U.S. Forces Rush To Rescue Of Battered Units

SAIGON (AP) — Hundreds of U.S. infantrymen were rushed to the rolling foothills 30 miles south of Da Nang today to relieve two American companies badly battered by a North Vietnamese force seven times their size.

Associated Press Correspondent Richard Pyle reported that the two companies from the 196th Light Infantry Brigade, totaling 177 men, had suffered about 40 per cent casualties—15 men killed and more than 50 wounded. But American officers said the outnumbered infantrymen together with American bombers and artillery had killed 148 North Vietnamese.

Four other fights flared in South Vietnam's northernmost provinces, and U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reported killing a total of 251 North Vietnamese in that area. U.S. casualties were put at 16 killed and more than 70 wounded.

Fighting also continued on a smaller scale in the Saigon region, with four skirmishes ranging from 20 miles south of the capital to 80 miles north of the city. Two Americans and 22 enemy were reported killed and 13 Americans wounded.

In another section of the country, the central plateau, heavy B52 raids indicated a new enemy threat was developing. As many as 40 of the big bombers dropped 1,250 tons of bombs along the Cambodian border about 153 miles northeast of Saigon. It was the heaviest air attack in the area in nearly two months.

AP Correspondent Pyle reported that in the fighting south of Da Nang, the two U.S. companies were surrounded about four miles apart and on opposite sides of their patrol base, which is on a ridge between two valleys.

Powell Sues To Recover Lost Salary, Seniority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell has gone back to court to recover salary and seniority lost when he was denied his congressional seat for two years.

Lawyers for the New York Democrat asked U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr., Monday to order Powell "restored to the rights, privileges and emoluments of the office to which he was duly elected." Hart set a hearing for Aug. 27.

At stake are about $55,000 in salary and 24 years of seniority, including chairmanship of the Education and Labor Committee. Powell also asked the court to invalidate the $25,000 fine imposed by the House as a condition of his being allowed to take his seat this year.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled June 16 that the House of Representatives had no right to deny Powell his seat in March 1967 on charges of misconduct in office and out.

However, the high court left open the question of whether its ruling entitled Powell to restoration of seniority and salary.

Hart, who heard the case originally in district court and ruled in favor of the House, had asked attorneys for both sides to submit proposed orders for his signature.

Bruce Bromley, a New York lawyer representing the House, submitted an order which would simply declare that Powell's exclusion was illegal but would do nothing to change the existing situation.

Powell was re-elected last November, and now holds his seat like any other freshman congressman except that the House is withholding $1,150 a month toward the $25,000 fine.

Stolen Movie May Backfire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Officials at the Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History are a little shaky about the thief who stole a 15-minute film of the 1906 San Francisco earthquake.

They're afraid he might try to show it.

The movie, in addition to its age, has a nitroglycerine base. If viewed on modern-day equipment, it might explode—endangering the projectionist and possibly others present.

The film, described as the only copy in existence, disappeared from a desk at the museum over the weekend. A museum curator estimated its value at $5,000.

Storm Death Toll May Reach 200

Deadly Freight Cargoes Roll Across Countryside

WASHINGTON (AP) — While attention was focused on a shipment of surplus military gas, hundreds of trucks and trains carrying deadly commercial cargoes were rolling across the country unnoticed by the public last week.

Recent concern over movement of potentially hazardous materials has been aimed chiefly at the military and its secretive chemical biological warfare program. But routine shipments of deadly chemicals needed to purify water, fertilize gardens, manufacture plastics and for thousands of other uses have been moving from producers to consumers for years.

"I couldn't tell you how many cars with hazardous materials are in motion right this minute," William F. Black of the Federal Railroad Administration said Monday. "But many, many cars carrying corrosive, radioactive or explosive material are moving on just about every through freight train."

An Association of American Railroads spokesman said 82 million tons of non-military hazardous materials were transported by rail in 1967, the latest year for which figures are available.

"We're shipping an awful lot of this stuff with absolutely no problem," another AAR official said. "When we do have an accident it's going to get quite a bit of play because the results are so severe."

The results were severe on New Years Day 1968 in a two-train smashup in Dunreith, Ind. The fire and explosion of a tank car filled with ethylene oxide destroyed a tomato cannery and seven homes and damaged 87 other residences and businesses. There were no fatalities and only five injuries.

A spokesman at the National Transportation Safety Board said there have been at least six other accidents since Dunreith in which towns have been entirely or partially evacuated.

The most commonly transported of the hazardous materials according to the AAR, are liquid petroleum gas—LPG—and anhydrous ammonia.

Some 14½ billion gallons of LPG were transported to U.S. consumers in 1967. Four billion gallons went by truck, 1.3 billion gallons by rail and the rest by pipeline or a combination of pipeline and truck or rail.

"If a tanker full of LPG ruptured and caught fire you'd have a pretty good conflagration," says William K. Byrd of the Department of Transportation's Office of Hazardous Materials.

Green Beret Case Wins New Critics

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) —The U.S. Army let newsmen look today at some of the Green Beret officers it is holding under murder charges but made the correspondents stay 30 feet away so they couldn't question them.

The seven officers and a sergeant accused of conspiring to murder a Vietnamese double agent were released from close confinement in the Long Binh Army stockade Monday and confined to regular billets.

As Chairman L. Mesde Riviers of the House Armed Services Committee joined the critics of the secrecy with which the Army has surrounded the case, the U.S. Command gave newsmen their first glimpse of Col. Robert B. Rheault and his subordinates since they were arrested a month ago.

Criticism of the Army's handling of the case mounted in Washington, and it was certain to be a priority item of discussion for Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, who left Washington Monday for a Pacific tour including Saigon.

The Pentagon announced that Resor in the meantime was sending two legal officers to Saigon to assemble a dossier on the case.

"On the basis of the secretary's visit and the reports from the two officers," the Defense Department said, "a careful review will be made to determine what information may be made public without prejudicing any potential prosecution and without compromising the rights of any potential defendants."

This indicated that there was little or no likelihood that the men would be released when the Army resumes its investigation Wednesday to determine whether they should be brought to trial. Henry B. Rothblatt, a civilian attorney for some of the men, said on Tuesday that the case was based "on the flimsiest of evidence" and the entire case might be dropped on Wednesday.

Rivers, South Carolina Democrat, wrote Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird that "this case is going from bad to worse, and the American people are entitled to know the facts involved."

IRA Chief of Staff Cathal Goulding announced in Dublin that volunteers were being mobilized to fight in the North and said some fully-equipped units already had been sent to Belfast. Goulding demanded that the Ulster government disband the B-Specials, the all-Protestant police reserves who have been accused of attacking Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic minority.

Prime Ministers Harold Wilson of Britain and James Chichester-Clark of Northern Ireland were to meet in London today to discuss ways of keeping the peace and satisfying Catholic demands in the six northern counties still linked to Britain.

Observers said Wilson would demand that the B-Specials be disbanded despite strong pressure on Chichester-Clark's Protestant government to stand firm.

The two leaders also were expected to discuss the continuing presence of British troops in Northern Ireland and financial aid for more than 2,000 people left homeless by the rioting. It was thought they also would consider possible changes in the constitutional link between the two governments.

Chichester-Clark's government called a conference Monday night of Protestant and Catholic church leaders, local government officials, trade union

23 Bodies Uncovered In Apartment

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — An increasingly grim picture of Hurricane Camille's devastation along the Gulf Coast emerged today as rescue workers uncovered 23 bodies in an apartment complex, raising the death toll to at least 128. Three more were killed in Cuba.

"We know there are more bodies," said State Sen. Nap Cassibry, coordinator of Civil Defense along Mississippi's coastal strip. "We estimate the final toll will be between 150 and 200."

It was still too early for an estimate of damage along the coastal resort area, but Cassibry estimated $500 million in damages to coastal military installations alone.

Civil Defense and other officials set what they termed a "war council" for later in the morning to tighten up operations in the hard-hit area.

Wade Guice, a Civil Defense spokesman, said Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was expected to survey the situation personally in Gulfport and some sources said Agnew already was in the area. Agnew's office in Washington was noncommittal, however.

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau in New Orleans said hard-hitting Camille has been relegated to the status of a rain storm and was centered over

Dying Camille Spreads Rain

Heavy rain falling out of the remnants of Hurricane Camille soaked northern reaches of the lower Mississippi Valley today.

The once furious storm diminished to a small storm center with highest winds about 55 miles an hour.

More than 2½ inches of rain poured onto Memphis through Monday night, nearly 2 inches fell at Blytheville, Ark.

Thunderstorms hit widely scattered parts of the West before daybreak. Wind gusts up to 62 miles an hour accompanied a storm which dumped more than an inch of rain on Tucumcari, N.M. Gusty storms also swept portions of Colorado and Montana.

Fair and warm weather dominated most other sections of the nation. Temperatures generally remained in the sticky 70s overnight from the central plains to New England.

Scientists Hope To Freeze Debbie

ROOSEVELT ROADS, Puerto Rico (AP) — Airborne scientists are studying the effects of Monday's seeding of Hurricane Debbie, hoping that the silver iodide crystal bombardment will freeze the 100-mile-an-hour storm to death.

Observation planes crisscrossed the storm center from midday Monday to about 6 a.m. today in the South Atlantic. The next observation flights are scheduled for Wednesday. If the experiment—Project Stormfury—proves successful, it should provide a weapon against the destructive storms that are born in the warm waters of the South Atlantic and the Caribbean.

Debbie was reported moving on a northwest course at about 10 miles an hour but at 6 a.m. EDT was about 680 miles east-northeast of San Juan and 1,500 miles east-southeast of Miami.

A fleet of Air Force and Navy planes took 200 scientists into the storm, dropping the crystals periodically for 10 hours Monday from 33,000 feet over eight miles of the storm center.

Scientists theorized water would form around the crystals sowed into the clouds surrounding Debbie's eye, be converted to falling ice and rob the storm of its heat and energy.

It was the first major attempt at robbing a hurricane of its power, although scientists have experimented with crystals on hurricanes before. In 1961, Hurricane Esther's eye wall broke down at one point after seeding, but regained intensity two hours later.

Scientists delayed this project for five years until they could achieve ideal conditions—a hurricane in a remote area where there was little or no chance of the storm moving over a populated area within 24 hours after seeding.

A spokesman said the project would be called off if the storm neared a land area.

Dump In Suit For $3,300,000

CINCINNATI (AP) — A garbage dump, eight corporations and seven Hamilton County health officials have been named defendants in a $3 million damage suit filed in U. S. District Court here Monday.

Plaintiffs are landowners and residents of Colerain Township in the vicinity of Rumpke's Dump. They seek total damages of $3,300,000 and ask the court to permanently halt alleged dumping of some two million pounds of garbage and industrial wastes at the dump site daily.

The plaintiffs claim residents of the area now must wear face masks even at night, with their windows closed, because of odors and pollution from the dump.

Dr. J. Edwin Reed, Hamilton County health commissioner, heads the health officials named as defendants. Defendant corporations include Procter & Gamble Co.; Formica Corp.; Ford Motor Co.; U. S. Plywood Champion Paper Inc.; Monsanto Co.; Liberty Scrap Metals Inc.; Emery Industries Inc., and Maumee Chemical Co.

Birth Control Pill Basis For Lawsuit

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati woman, Mrs. Sadie Hothchick, has sued the Cincinnati Planned Parenthood Association and an Illinois drug manufacturing firm for $1 million, claiming multiple injuries results from taking a birth control pill she alleges was prescribed at a Planned Parenthood clinic, and manufactured by G. D. Searle & Co., Chicago. The pill was identified in the suit as "Ovulen-21." The suit was filed Monday in U. S. District Court here.

Fears Of Mass Welfare Migration Appear Groundless

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Supreme Court struck down state residence requirements for people receiving welfare, there was apprehension in capitals of states that are most generous to their poor.

Some officials plainly feared they would be engulfed by waves of out-of-staters coming to where the welfare was greener. But so far there is little evidence this is happening.

There is a major difference across the land in the payments for the 10 million people receiving some form of assistance.

New Jersey pays an average $65.30 a month per person in its aid to families with dependent children. Mississippi pays $9.70. A family of four receiving welfare in New Jersey averages $263 a month. The same family would get $38.75 in Mississippi.

Those are the extremes. The rest of the 50 states fall in between.

Nearly three months after the Supreme Court's ruling became effective it appears the fears of mass migration of people on the dole were largely groundless. An Associated Press survey finds that states barely felt a change.

"We expected something to happen," said George Miller, administrator of the Nevada Welfare division, "but we have had practically no change. We have not had a great exodus."

In its 6-3 decision April 21, the Supreme Court ruled it unconstitutional for a state to require a waiting period for welfare grants for "the purpose of inhibiting migration by needy persons into the state." Such a requirement, the court said, inhibited a citizen's freedom to travel and made an invidious distinction between needy persons who had lived in a state for a year and those who had not.

Delaware, Guam, Hawaii, Kentucky, Maine, New York, Puerto Rico, Vermont, the Virgin Islands and Massachusetts had no residency requirements in any welfare program. Alaska, Georgia and New Jersey had no requirements in aid to families with dependent children, commonly called AFDC, but had some in other aid programs.

Seven states and the District of Columbia had residence requirements but had not enforced them for more than a year because the rules were being challenged in courts—California,

Connecticut, Illinois, Louisiana, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

A state legislator in Pennsylvania, Republican Eugene R. Geesey, attempted to ease possible effects of the Supreme Court ruling by introducing legislation that would have given a newcomer only the benefits of his home state. Geesey's move failed.

Pennsylvania, where one of the three welfare cases that Education Bill Becomes Law; Taxes Go Up!

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Taxes on cigarettes and liquor went up today as the largest education bill in Ohio history became effective.

The $2.27 billion measure was signed into law by Gov. James A. Rhodes shortly after 4 p. m. Monday.

The bill increased cigarettes three-cents a pack.

The price on liquor went up 25 cents a fifth. Liquor stores closed Monday to finish clerical work connected with the increase.

Rhodes also signed Monday a $30.5 million pay raise bill and a bill for $414.7 million in general capital improvements for the next two years.

The capital improvements bill implemented bond issue money authorized by the voters. In addition, there was another $421.5 million in capital improvements in the education bill.

Rhodes recalled that three years ago he ran into a road block when he attempted to get technical education on college campuses.

Educators now agree there is a role for it there, he said. "It's a major breakthrough," he added.

He recalled that he once tried to have vocational-technical education lumped together. "It ran into what you might call a controversy," he smiled.

University presidents balked at the program back in January but Rhodes successfully got them to accept technical education.

Vocational education will be handled by the high school level Ohio Department of Education for both high school students and adults.

In addition to tax increases on cigarettes and liquor, the education package also includes a one-mill boost in consumer franchise and a one per cent hike in public utility excise taxes.

The measure includes a direct $34.5 million in vocational education and an estimated $900,000 in federal funds.

Other measures signed by the governor included a bill, effective Nov. 19, which allows cities to hold local option elections on the issue of Sunday liquor sales.

Another bill, also effective Nov. 19, mandates all cities in Ohio to have fluoridated drinking water by 1972.

Two other bills signed into law approved a 4 per cent excise tax on airlines operating in Ohio and made the $30 million highway transportation and research center under development near Marysville a separate entity from the Ohio State University operations.

The Western White House said Nixon was kept informed of the hurricane damage as the storm slammed into the Gulf coast Sunday night centering its impact on Gulfport and Biloxi.

Birth Control Pill Basis For Lawsuit

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati woman, Mrs. Sadie Hotchkiss, has sued the Cincinnati Planned Parenthood Association and an Illinois drug manufacturing firm for $1 million, claiming multiple injuries results from taking a birth control pill she alleges was prescribed at a Planned Parenthood clinic, and manufactured by G. D. Searle & Co., Chicago. The pill was identified in the suit as "Ovulen-21." The suit was filed Monday in U. S. District Court here.

Irish Outlaws Posing Threat

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The outlawed Irish Republican Army threatened to renew Northern Ireland's religious warfare as politicians and other leaders worked today to bring lasting peace in the tense, battle-scarred state.

IRA Chief of Staff Cathal Goulding announced in Dublin that volunteers were being mobilized to fight in the North and said some fully-equipped units already had been sent to Belfast. Goulding demanded that the Ulster government disband the B-Specials, the all-Protestant police reserves who have been accused of attacking Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic minority.

Goulding's statement was condemned as ill-timed and inflammatory by the Dublin government and moderate newspapers in the republic. The IRA is illegal in both Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic.

Prime Ministers Harold Wilson of Britain and James Chichester-Clark of Northern Ireland were to meet in London today to discuss ways of keeping the peace and satisfying Catholic demands in the six northern counties still linked to Britain.

Observers said Wilson would demand that the B-Specials be disbanded despite strong pressure on Chichester-Clark's Protestant government to stand firm.

The two leaders also were expected to discuss the continuing presence of British troops in Northern Ireland and financial aid for more than 2,000 people left homeless by the rioting. It was thought they also would consider possible changes in the constitutional link between the two governments.

Chichester-Clark's government called a conference Monday night of Protestant and Catholic church leaders, local government officials, trade unionists and others to discuss the situation.

3 In Refugee Camp Slain By Israeli Patrol

EL MAUZI REFUGEE CAMP, Gaza Strip (AP) — An Israeli patrol searching for Arab terrorists surrounded a makeshift hut in this Arab refugee camp this morning and called for the occupants to surrender.

A gunshot, fired from the hut, slammed into an Israeli officer's submachine gun and grazed his hand.

The troops riddled the hut with automatic rifle fire, went in and carried out the bodies of three Arabs and several weapons. Two men sprawled unharmed in the dust, their hands stretched out in surrender.

It was the only violent incident in a search of the camp's 10,000 refugees aimed at uprooting an Arab terrorist cell the army says has been operating in the Gaza Strip for a month. The search was part of the largest security operation the Israelis have conducted in the area since they captured it from Egypt in the 1967 war.

Shortly before dawn, a curfew was imposed as dozens of troops encircled the camp and others began a house-to-house search.

Shaggy Mane Angers Judge; Juror Mad, Too

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A juror and a judge are at odds over a verdict in a hairy case that never got to court.

Douglas Cowart, 23, said he showed up for jury duty Monday and was told to "go out and get a haircut and come back today." Judge E. Sumner Sheffey said he told Cowart, a salesman, "you will not sit on any of my juries unless you put on a coat and get your hair cut."

"Perhaps it may have been because of my former Marine Corps training, but his hair was long enough that it was repulsive to me," Judge Sheffey said.

Cowart promised he would be back at the courthouse today, minus the haircut and said he planned to have an American Civil Liberties Union lawyer in tow, because, "this action is a violation of my civil rights."

Star's Widow Dies

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Mildred Davis Lloyd, wife of comedian Harold Lloyd Lloyd and a prominent actress of the 1920s and 1930s, died Monday after a long illness. Her age was not made public. Miss Davis appeared as Lloyd's leading lady in all his two-reel comedies.

Fears Of Mass Welfare Migration Appear Groundless

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Supreme Court struck down state residence requirements for people receiving welfare, there was apprehension in capitals of states that are most generous to their poor.

Some officials plainly feared they would be engulfed by waves of out-of-staters coming to where the welfare was greener. But so far there is little evidence this is happening.

There is a major difference across the land in the payments for the 10 million people receiving some form of assistance.

New Jersey pays an average $65.30 a month per person in its aid to families with dependent children. Mississippi pays $9.70. A family of four receiving welfare in New Jersey averages $263 a month. The same family would get $38.75 in Mississippi.

Those are the extremes. The rest of the 50 states fall in between.

Nearly three months after the Supreme Court's ruling became effective it appears the fears of mass migration of people on the dole were largely groundless. An Associated Press survey finds that states barely felt a change.

"We expected something to happen," said George Miller, administrator of the Nevada Welfare division, "but we have had practically no change. We have not had numbers go up. We have not had a great exodus."

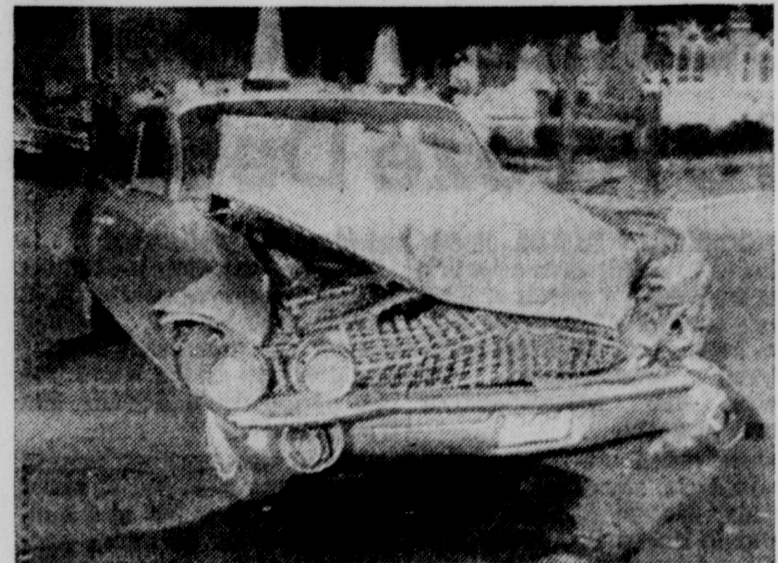

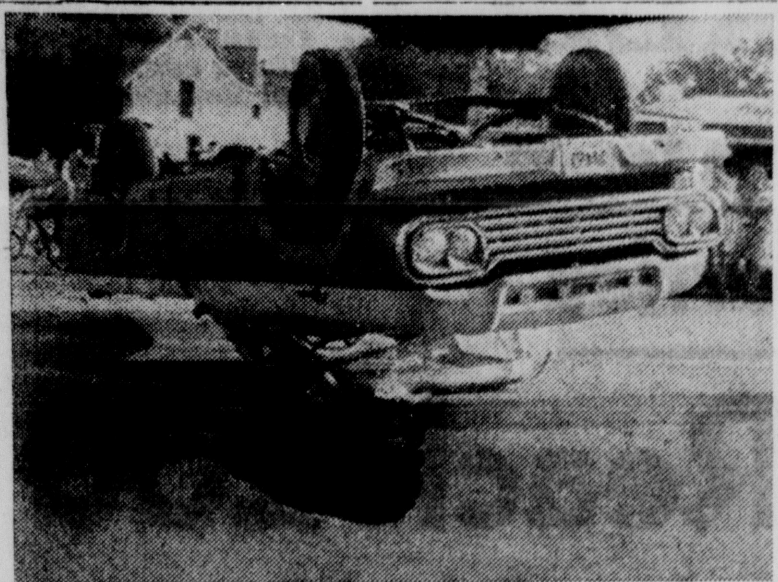

In its 6-3 decision April 21, the Supreme Court ruled it unconstitutional for a state to require a waiting period for welfare grants for "the purpose of inhibiting migration by needy persons into the state." Such a requirement, the court said, inhibited a citizen's freedom to travel and made an invidious distinction between needy persons who had lived in a state for a year and those who had not.

Delaware, Guam, Hawaii, Kentucky, Maine, New York, Puerto Rico, Vermont, the Virgin Islands and Massachusetts had no residency requirements in any welfare program. Alaska, Georgia and New Jersey had no requirements in aid to families with dependent children, commonly called AFDC, but had some in other aid programs.

Seven states and the District of Columbia had residence requirements but had not enforced them for more than a year because the rules were being challenged in courts—California, Connecticut, Illinois, Louisiana, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

A state legislator in Pennsylvania, Republican Eugene R. Geesey, attempted to ease possible effects of the Supreme Court ruling by introducing legislation that would have given a newcomer only the benefits of his home state. Geesey's move failed.

Pennsylvania, where one of the three welfare cases that Whoa, Jack!

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Jack Goodman, owner of the Seaboard Salvage Co., planned to dump 400 pounds of scrap metal onto the sidewalk in front of City Hall to protest what he termed lack of disposal areas with reasonable rates.

Goodman backed a dump truck up to the holiday street side of City Hall Monday. When the first piece of corrugated metal hit the sidewalk, William D. Schaefer, City Council president, told police: "Throw the book at 'em."

Goodman, 35, and two of his employees were charged with littering and disorderly conduct.

Negotiations Delayed One Day At Mead

Mead officials and the paper workers union have delayed resuming negotiations until today. Talks had been planned for late Monday afternoon.

Mead management was to use the extra day for preparations for the talks.

Area Mead manager, Warren Henricks and John L. Gredds, representative of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite, and Papermill workers, were both reported out of Chillicothe Monday.

The union had been expected to give Mead the required ten day notice of a walkout Monday. Mead officials said that the notice had not been received.

When the notice is served it will cover three locals at Mead. Locals 731 (Chillicothe Mills) and locals 988 (Chillicothe) both authorized a strike by substantial majorities last week.

A third local, 728 (Construction Workers), Friday unanimously voted to authorize a strike. The union has about 40 members.

MRS. GRACE I. HEFFNER
Mrs. Grace Irene Heffner, 69, of W. High St., died 11:35 p.m. Monday in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

She was preceded in death by her husband, John G. Heffner. She was born Sept. 8, 1899, in Washington Twp., the daughter of Jerome and Sadie Valentine Warner.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ray Heffner, Ashville, and several nieces and nephews. Services will be 3 p.m. Thursday in the Defenbaugh Funeral Home with the Rev. Paul I. Wachs officiating. Burial will be in Reber Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning noon Wednesday.

Two Officers Hit; Muny Hearing Set For Man Tuesday

Larry Potts was to appear Tuesday afternoon in Municipal Court on the charges of resisting arrest, intoxication, disorderly conduct, and striking two police officers, following a fracas Tuesday morning with Circleville City police.

According to Robert Temple, chief of police, Potts was apprehended early Tuesday in an alley behind Bingham Drugs.

He allegedly struck Patrolmen Leonard Sines and William Pontious.

Nixon's Supreme Court Appointee Faces Rough Sledding In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., President Nixon's nominee for Supreme Court justice, can expect rougher going next month than a dozen years ago when he won easy Senate approval as a federal judge.

On March 7, 1957, Haynsworth was showered with praise during a 70-minute hearing before a Senate judiciary subcommittee. Then, less than a month later, he was confirmed unanimously by the Senate as a judge on the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The full Senate Judiciary Committee will meet Sept. 9 for a hearing on his nomination for the Supreme Court seat that Abe Fortas resigned in mid-May. Committee member Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, said there will be "extensive hearings."

Terry Brown 'Fair' After Pool Accident

Terry Brown, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, 601 N. court St., is in fair condition Tuesday in Children's Hospital after he nearly drowned in the Circleville Swimming Pool 3:48 p.m. Monday.

According to a report filed by Patrolman Leonard Sines, Brown was attempting to do a backward dive from the edge of the pool, when he struck his head on the side.

Lifeguard Holly Bach spotted the boy on the bottom of the pool and brought him to the surface.

Pool manager Gale Leatherwood and Miss Bach used artificial respiration and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in an effort to revive the boy.

He was reported bleeding from the head and unconscious when taken to the Berger Hospital Emergency Room.

Reports that the boy is still unconscious and suffering from pneumonia have not been confirmed.

Chances are that consideration of Haynsworth will be more protracted than the brief hearing in June that preceded Senate confirmation of Nixon's choice of Warren E. Burger as chief justice to succeed retiring Earl Warren.

Opposition already has been sounded by groups who are unhappy with Haynsworth's record in civil rights cases.

But, at this stage, there is no indication of a Senate controversy the size of the one that developed in 1968 around—and eventually blocked—President Lyndon B. Johnson's nomination of

Rescue workers uncovered 23 bodies in the modern 3-story Richeieu apartment complex in Pass Christian. The police chief there said a large group was holding a hurricane party in the brick complex while waiting out Camille.

The weight of the wreckage left by Camille was hampering work by 1,500 National Guardsmen, 500 Civil Defense workers and many volunteers this morning.

"We have enough people to do the work," said Cassibry. "What we need is supplies."

Supplies were coming. At Atlanta, a dozen C124 Globemasters at Dobbins Air Force Base were assigned to airlift 375,000 pounds of food to Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi. New Orleans shipped 13,000 gallons of water in tank cars to ravaged Bay St. Louis, just across the state line.

President Nixon declared the state's coastal strip a disaster area, making it eligible for an initial $1 million in federal assistance.

Camille, lashing first at the southeastern edge of Louisiana, shrieked onto the Mississippi coast Sunday night.

The area of maximum force—around the eye—included the port city of Gulfport, with 30,000 residents, and nearby Biloxi with 44,000. Thousands of residents of the coastal strip, warned of coming tides of up to 20 feet above normal, fled inland before Camille arrived.

Biloxi and Gulfport were under 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew. National Guardsmen, armed with rifles, patrolled to prevent looting.

A curfew also was in force at Bogalusa, a city of some 21,500 in Louisiana. Mayor Curt Siegel said power lines were down, drinking water was scarce and the city in "critical condition."

Martial law was imposed in Louisiana's Plaquemines Parish (county) at sundown Monday. Devoutly with cocked shotguns turned back angry residents trying to check on their homes.

The parish is a low delta land, laid down over the centuries by the Mississippi River's silt. Officials said the communities of Venice, Bothville and Triumph were wiped out.

"There are no homes there," said Parish Commissioner Howard Wilcox. "There are no grocery stores. Nothing, period. A few telephone poles, tugs in the marsh, houses in the marsh—parts of them."

Pascagoula, a shipbuilding center near Alabama, reported extensive damage. A bridge from Biloxi to Ocean Springs,

Fortas to be chief justice.

Haynsworth, 56, of Greenville, S.C., was praised Monday by Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., for a "distinguished legal career."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, top-ranking Republican on the committee, said he anticipates little difficulty in obtaining Senate confirmation.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., a senior member of the committee, said he expects no problem despite what he termed "some opposition from those who expect the Supreme Court to be an aggressive policymaking body."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., called Haynsworth "a strict constructionist of the Constitution" and "a fine addition to the court."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the nomination caused him "grave concern" and he would have to determine, "based on the impending hearing and further inquiry, whether active opposition is warranted."

Haynsworth's backers say they expect confirmation before the Supreme Court begins its new term in October.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People already has notified the Judiciary Committee it wishes to testify against Haynsworth.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, said in New York: "Haynsworth is for the status quo, or inching along. On the basis of his opinions, we do not think that he would make a good Supreme Court justice for this time."

Whitney M. Young Jr., director of the National Urban League, called the nomination disappointing and said he had hoped for "someone of more pronounced liberal credentials."

In Greenville, S. C., Haynsworth said of the opinions he has rendered: "There is no single thread of consistency running through the rulings. Each matter must be examined differently."

After a 3½-hour meeting, the group issued a statement welcoming the 4,000 British troops who were called in to quell violence in Londonderry and Belfast and recommending that their role be extended. A peace committee was set up and scheduled a meeting for today.

Two thousand more British troops were ordered to Ulster.

The relative calm brought by the troops after five days of bloody street fighting last week continued today in Londonderry, but there were unconfirmed reports that new barricades were being built by Catholics in their Bogside stronghold.

Scattered gunfire was reported in Belfast, and police and B-Specials opened fire on two cars that crashed through roadblocks in the capital. A gasoline bomb was hurled at a community center, but no injuries and little damage were reported.

Amanda Plant Is In Sixth Day Of Strike

Management at the Amanda Bent Bolt Co. was finally reached today for comment on the six-day-old United Auto Workers walkout at the Amanda plant.

About 31 members of UAW's local 1549 walked out Aug. 13, because of "grievances and bad conditions." The bolt company has 80-85 employees.

The plant refused to comment on the walkout until Tuesday to keep the "peace between union and plant officials."

The general manager of the local plant said that he could not comment on the rumor that the UAW workers had received "pink slips" with their paychecks Friday. He also said that the present contract states that there would be "no strike and no stoppage of work by the union."

THE Amanda firm has not been picketed to date according to the general manager.

The present walkout is the second by the Auto Workers under the present contract. The first walkout was in December of 1968 and it lasted only one day.

The union officials and the plant management are presently negotiating, but no work has been received on the talks.

Negotiations Delayed One Day At Mead

Mead officials and the paper workers union have delayed resuming negotiations until today. Talks had been planned for late Monday afternoon.

Mead management was to use the extra day for preparations for the talks.

Area Mead manager, Warren Henricks and John L. Gredds, representative of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite, and Papermill workers, were both reported out of Chillicothe Monday.

The union had been expected to give Mead the required ten day notice of a walkout Monday. Mead officials said that the notice had not been received.

When the notice is served it will cover three locals at Mead. Locals 731 (Chillicothe Mills) and locals 988 (Chillicothe) both authorized a strike by substantial majorities last week.

A third local, 728 (Construction Workers), Friday unanimously voted to authorize a strike. The union has about 40 members.

Deaths

MR. FRANK R. HETTINGER Mr. Frank R. Hettinger, 77, of Yellowbud, died 10:25 a.m. Monday in Chillicothe Hospital. Born May 21, 1892 in Ross County, he was the son of Clinton and Rowena Gilbin Hettinger.

He was a veteran of WW I.

He is survived by his widow, Alice; seven sons, Jacob, Lucasville; Amos, Williamsport; Albert, Charles and Edward, at home; Ronald, Columbus; George, in the Armed Forces at Ft. Jackson, S. C. and a daughter, Mrs. Adrian Yates, Route 2.

Services will be 2:30 p.m. Thursday at the Yellowbud United Methodist Church with Rev. J. A. Mathias officiating. Burial will be in Green Summit Cemetery, Adelphi where Chillicothe VFW will hold military graveside services.

Friends may call at the Defenbaugh Funeral Home beginning 7 p.m. Tuesday.

MRS. GRACE I. HEFFNER Mrs. Grace Irene Heffner, 69, of W. High St., died 11:35 p.m. Monday in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

She was preceded in death by her husband, John G. Heffner. She was born Sept. 8, 1899, in Washington Twp., the daughter of Jerome and Sadie Valentine Warner.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ray Heffner, Ashville, and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be 3 p.m. Thursday in the Defenbaugh Funeral Home with the Rev. Paul I. Wachs officiating. Burial will be in Reber Hill Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home beginning noon Wednesday.

Two Officers Hit; Muny Hearing Set For Man Tuesday

Larry Potts was to appear Tuesday afternoon in Municipal Court on the charges of resisting arrest, intoxication, disorderly conduct, and striking two police officers, following a fracas Tuesday morning with Circleville City police.

According to Robert Temple, chief of police, Potts was apprehended early Tuesday in an alley behind Bigman Drugs.

He allegedly struck Patrolmen Leonard Sines and William Pontious.

Nixon's Supreme Court Appointee Faces Rough Sledding In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., President Nixon's nominee for Supreme Court justice, can expect rougher going next month than a dozen years ago when he won easy Senate approval as a federal judge.

On March 7, 1957, Haynsworth was showered with praise during a 70-minute hearing before a Senate judiciary subcommittee. Then, less than a month later, he was confirmed unanimously by the Senate as a judge on the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The full Senate Judiciary Committee will meet Sept. 9 for a hearing on his nomination for the Supreme Court seat that Abe Fortas resigned in mid-May. Committee member Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, said there will be "extensive hearings."

Terry Brown 'Fair' After Pool Accident

Terry Brown, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, 601 N. Court St., is in fair condition Tuesday in Children's Hospital after he nearly drowned in the Circleville Swimming Pool 3:48 p.m. Monday.

According to a report filed by Patrolman Leonard Sines, Brown was attempting to do a backward dive from the edge of the pool, when he struck his head on the side.

Lifeguard Holly Bach spotted the boy on the bottom of the pool and brought him to the side.

Pool manager Gale Leatherwood and Miss Bach used artificial respiration and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in an effort to revive the boy.

He was reported bleeding from the head and unconscious when taken to the Berger Hospital Emergency Room.

Reports that the boy is still unconscious and suffering from pneumonia have not been confirmed.

Chances are that consideration of Haynsworth will be more protracted than the brief hearing in June that preceded Senate confirmation of Nixon's choice of Warren E. Burger as chief justice to succeed retiring Earl Warren.

Opposition already has been sounded by groups who are unhappy with Haynsworth's record in civil rights cases.

But, at this stage, there is no indication of a Senate controversy the size of the one that developed in 1968 around—and eventually blocked—President Lyndon B. Johnson's nomination of

Rescue workers uncovered 23 bodies in the modern 3-story Richeieu apartment complex in Pass Christian. The police chief there said a large group was holding a hurricane party in the brick complex while waiting out Camille.

The weight of the wreckage left by Camille was hampering work by 1,500 National Guardsmen, 500 Civil Defense workers and many volunteers this morning.

"We have enough people to do the work," said Cassibry. "What we need is supplies."

Supplies were coming. At Atlanta, a dozen C124 Globemasters at Dobbins Air Force Base were assigned to airlift 375,000 pounds of food to Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi, New Orleans shipped 13,000 gallons of water in tank cars to ravaged Bay St. Louis, just across the state line.

President Nixon declared the state's coastal strip a disaster area, making it eligible for an initial $1 million in federal assistance.

Camille, lashing first at the southern edge of Louisiana, shrieked onto the Mississippi coast Sunday night.

The area of maximum force—around the eye—included the port city of Gulfport, with 30,000 residents, and nearby Biloxi with 44,000. Thousands of residents of the coastal strip, warned of coming tides of up to 20 feet above normal, fled inland before Camille arrived.

Biloxi and Gulfport were under 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew. National Guardsmen, armed with rifles, patrolled to prevent looting.

A curfew also was in force at Bogalusa, a city of some 21,500 in Louisiana. Mayor Curt Sleight said power lines were down, drinking water was scarce and the city in "critical condition."

Marital law was imposed in Louisiana's Plaquemines Parish (county) at sundown Monday. Duties with cocked shotguns turned back angry residents trying to check on their homes.

The parish is a low delta land, laid down over the centuries by the Mississippi River's silt. Officials said the communities of Venice, Bothville and Triumph were wiped out.

"There are no homes there," said Parish Commissioner Howard Wilcox. "There are no grocery stores. Nothing, period. A few telephone poles, tugs in the marsh, houses in the marsh—parts of them."

Pascagoula, a shipbuilding center near Alabama, reported extensive damage. A bridge from Biloxi to Ocean Springs,

Commissioners Touring County

Pickaway County Commissioners Dick Tootle and Charles Morris Jr. were "touring" the county Tuesday.

The pair of commissioners planned to cover most of the county with a backlog of complaints. On the itinerary of viewing sites were bridges, ditches, tiles and subdivisions.

The commission felt they were "up to the tour" since Monday's regular session was one of the slowest of the year.

In official action on Monday, the board set a personal bond of $50,000 for Pickaway County Treasurer Robert W. Wood, whose term of office begins in September.

Fortas to be chief justice.

Haynsworth, 56, of Greenville, S.C., was praised Monday by Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., for a "distinguished legal career."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, top-ranking Republican on the committee, said he anticipates little difficulty in obtaining Senate confirmation.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., a senior member of the committee, said he expects no problem despite what he termed "some opposition from those who expect the Supreme Court to be an aggressive policymaking body."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., called Haynsworth "a strict constructionist of the Constitution" and "a fine addition to the court."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the nomination caused him "grave concern" and he would have to determine, "based on the impending hearing and further inquiry, whether active opposition is warranted."

Haynsworth's backers say they expect confirmation before the Supreme Court begins its new term in October.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People already has notified the Judiciary Committee it wishes to testify against Haynsworth.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, said in New York: "Haynsworth is for the status quo, or inching along. On the basis of his opinions, we do not think that he would make a good Supreme Court justice for this time."

Whitney M. Young Jr., director of the National Urban League, called the nomination disappointing and said he had hoped for "someone of more pronounced liberal credentials."

In Greenville, S.C., Haynsworth said of the opinions he has rendered: "There is no single thread of consistency running through the rulings. Each matter must be examined differently."

Jim Lee Fausnaugh, 385 Walnut St., was charged by City Police with being intoxicated and disorderly conduct. He forfeited bonds of $24 on the intoxication charge and $50 on the disorderly conduct charge.

After a 3½-hour meeting, the group issued a statement welcoming the 4,000 British troops who were called in to quell violence in Londonderry and Belfast and recommending that their role be extended. A peace committee was set up and scheduled a meeting for today.

Two thousand more British troops were ordered to Ulster.

The relative calm brought by the troops after five days of bloody street fighting last week continued today in Londonderry, but there were unconfirmed reports that new barricades were being built by Catholics in their Bogside stronghold.

Scattered gunfire was reported in Belfast, and police and B-Specials opened fire on two cars that crashed through roadblocks in the capital. A gasoline bomb was hurled at a community center, but no injuries and little damage were reported.

Amanda Plant Is In Sixth Day Of Strike

Management at the Amanda Bent Bolt Co. was finally reached today for comment on the six-day-old United Auto Workers walkout at the Amanda plant.

About 31 members of UAW's local 1549 walked out Aug. 13, because of "grievances and bad conditions." The bolt company has 80-85 employees.

The plant refused to comment on the walkout until Tuesday to keep the "peace between union and plant officials."

The general manager of the local plant said that he could not comment on the rumor that the UAW workers had received "pink slips" with their paychecks Friday. He also said that the present contract states that there would be "no strike and no stoppage of work by the union."

THE Amanda firm has not been picketed to date according to the general manager.

The present walkout is the second by the Auto Workers under the present contract. The first walkout was in December of 1968 and it lasted only one day.

The union officials and the plant management are presently negotiating, but no word has been received on the talks.

New High Court Appointee Is 5th Generation Lawyer

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — The nation's newest Supreme Court justice "appointee" is a distinguished looking fifth-generation lawyer who, until now, has lived a quiet life in an upper-class neighborhood in Greenville.

Clement Furman Haynsworth Jr., presiding judge of the U.S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals, made something of a public splash in 1956 when, as a Democrat, he came out for Dwight D. Eisenhower against Adlai Stevenson.

But his record is that of an essentially private man who has said little on local and state issues even before Eisenhower named him to the federal bench in 1957.

Haynsworth, 56, is reluctant to discuss judicial philosophy because, he says, it might indicate he has prejudged matters that come before him for decision. "I can say I am devoted to the law and its traditions," he said.

He is the great-great-grandson of Richard Furman, founder of Furman University. His great-grandfather was the school's first president.

Until he was named to the court of appeals for North and South Carolina, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, he held a partnership in the family's large and respected law firm.

Asked once about his politics, Haynsworth smiled and answered, "Some say I'm a liberal."

It is one measure of his politics that U.S. Sen. Strom Thurmond, when the conservative mainstay of South Carolina's Democratic Party, preferred other, more conservative men for the appeals court judgeship in 1957. But the Senate confirmed him without a dissenting vote. Before the vote, there had been some grumbling among senators who thought the post should go to a man with some judicial experience.

Haynsworth has trod a middle-of-the-road course on the appeals court. He has sustained desegregation rulings and written that the pace of desegregation must be maintained. However, a director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Clarence Mitchell, has said the association regards his key decisions as having taken a position in favor of segregation.

He is, say friends, a "highly disciplined man" busy with his work seven days a week. He married an Augusta, Ga., divorcee 23 years ago. Mrs. Haynsworth has two sons by her former marriage.

ORDINANCE NO. 70-59
AN ORDINANCE ADOPTING THE SPECIFIC SAFETY REQUIREMENTS OF THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION OF OHIO RELATING TO CONSTRUCTION AND PUBLISHED BY THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION OF OHIO FOR THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO.

WHEREAS, it is deemed necessary and in the best interest of the citizens of Circleville to have rules and regulations requiring construction and safety requirements for construction, and

WHEREAS, the State of Ohio through the Industrial Commission has developed such rules and regulations which may be adopted by reference.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio: Section 1: That Rule IC-3-01 through IC-3-16.07 of the Specific Safety Requirements of the Industrial Commission of Ohio, relative to construction is hereby adopted and incorporated except as hereinafter modified, and the said Code, except as modified, shall constitute a part of this Ordinance as if the same were fully rewritten herein which together with the modifications hereinafter listed, shall constitute for the City of Circleville the Construction Safety Requirements. Desegregation Increase Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials in the federal office of Civil Rights say the administration's new guidelines have not slowed school desegregation.

In fact, they predict a record increase this fall.

The proportion of Negroes attending formerly all-white schools is expected to jump from 20 per cent to 40 per cent.

"The desegregation plans keep pouring in," said a spokesman for the Office of Civil Rights—OCR. "The dire predictions have not been borne out."

He referred to criticism that greeted the administration's new desegregation guidelines July 3.

The guidelines call for greater emphasis on court-ordered desegregation than on administrative termination of aid. And they allow districts with problems such as lack of facilities an additional year to complete desegregation.

Pessimists predicted that southern die-hards would use the guidelines as an excuse to delay desegregation further.

But OCR officials say only 12 districts have asked to renegotiate their federally-approved plans since the guidelines were announced. The total for the year is 32. Most asking for renegotiation want additional time to complete desegregation.

"Since July 3 there have been no more or less requests for renegotiation than in similar periods," the spokesman said.

And Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, said recently there would be no renegotiation of agreed plans.

Administrative desegregation actions have been started against 48 additional districts since July 3, the OCR official said.

"It's full-speed ahead as far as we are concerned," he added.

An unresolved issue, however, is the new relationship between the OCR, an arm of HEW, and the Justice Department. The two departments were given co-responsibilities for school desegregation and the new guidelines.

Communication at first was poor, officials say. But each department now is letting the other know what actions it intends to take.

Justice handles court suits and OCR administrative desegregation actions.

In addition OCR officials say there has been no pressure from higher up to ease the pace of desegregation.

More than three-quarters of the 4,425 school districts in the 17 southern and border states have desegregated. An additional 235 have agreed to eliminate dual school systems this fall.

Project For Master's Degree Worth $56,000, Grad Says

DETROIT (AP) — A graduate student at Wayne State University figures his master's degree project is worth $56,000. He designed and built a car for himself.

Using 1,200 pounds of special clay, lumber, fiberglass and other materials, 35-year-old Richard A. Petit of Allen Park and a cousin who works in a Ford Motor Co. design center built a prototype car with $8,000 cash.

But the two men value their time at $10 an hour.

"We each spent an average of 30 hours a week for 20 months in actual construction of the car," Petit said. They figure their time to be worth $48,000.

The automobile—named G-12—has five forward gears. They will take it from 0 to 60 miles per hour in 6.5 seconds. Propelled by a four-cylinder in-line double overhead cam

Lotus Ford engine, the car is capable of speeds up to 150 m.p.h.

The sleek red hand-crafted vehicle is suitable for circuit racing.

Petit's creation recently won a blue ribbon in the industrial design section of a Wayne State University art exhibit. It also earned him his master's degree.

He has worked as a designer in Ford's Fairlane-Torin Studio in Dearborn, where he was recently assigned to a section handling advanced design concepts and special performance innovations.

Fairgoers To See Armstrong — In Sculptured Butter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Astronaut Neil Armstrong will be sculptured in butter for an Ohio State Fair exhibit.

About 900 pounds of butter will be used to produce the likeness of Armstrong, first man to set foot on the moon, and a cow and a calf.

Armstrong's likeness will weigh about 250 pounds.

The three forms will be exhibited in a room cooled to 40 degrees to keep them from melting.

Butter sculptures of the cow and calf have been popular state fair fixtures for 45 years.

reasons why Maverick is the fastest-selling new car in automotive history!

Our little car is making a big hit. In its first 100 days Maverick has out-sold every new car ever introduced. And every day more and more smart drivers are discovering the fun of owning the simple machine. (Maverick gives you economy without inconvenience.) Take a few minutes to find out why Maverick's so popular. Then take a test drive at your Ford Dealer's.

New Ford Maverick . . . the simple machine

- 1. LOW PRICE. Maverick is the best seller of the '70s at 1960 prices. And you get your money's worth. A complete car all ready to drive home.
- 2. LOW FUEL BILLS. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg. (Some Maverick owners report they get 25 mpg and better.)
- 3. 105 HORSES. Maverick's high-spirited Six gives you nearly twice as much horsepower as the leading import's engine. You get fast acceleration, easy passing.
- 4. PEOPLE-SIZED INTERIOR. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. Its front seat gives you nine inches more shoulder room than the leading import. Plus lots of leg room, hip room and head room.
- 5. EASY HANDLING. Maverick can outmaneuver the leading economy import. It can U-turn in a tighter circle, nip around corners and slide into tight parking spaces with amazing agility.
- 6. FEWER SERVICE CALLS. Maverick is actually easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import. Maverick oil changes come only once every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrications once in 36,000 miles. The leading import recommends an oil change twice as often and a chassis lubrication six times as often. (Maverick gives you economy without inconvenience.)
- 7. SIMPLE SERVICE AND REPAIRS. The Maverick Owner's Manual has 24 pages of instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You can change spark plugs, replace fuel filter, adjust ignition timing, and more. Even a smashed grille can be replaced in as little as 13 minutes.
- 8. WIDE-OPEN TRUNK SPACE. No more cramming in luggage just because you have a small car. Maverick gives you 10.4 cubic feet of luggage space—nearly twice as much as the leading import. (With Maverick, you can take it with you.)
- 9. SOLID DURABILITY. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. (And Maverick's 3-speed transmission is tough enough to handle twice as much horsepower as the engine turns out.) (Maverick may be little, but you don't have to treat it like a kid.)
- 10. BUILT-IN SAFETY. Unlike most economy imports, Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high. That means stability—mighty important when the road is wet or the wind is strong.

New High Court Appointee Is 5th Generation Lawyer

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — The nation's newest Supreme Court justice "appointee" is a distinguished looking fifth-generation lawyer who, until now, has lived a quiet life in an upper-class neighborhood in Greenville.

Clement Furman Haynsworth Jr., presiding judge of the U.S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals, made something of a public splash in 1956 when, as a Democrat, he came out for Dwight D. Eisenhower against Adlai Stevenson.

But his record is that of an essentially private man who has said little on local and state issues even before Eisenhower named him to the federal bench in 1957.

Haynsworth, 56, is reluctant to discuss judicial philosophy because, he says, it might indicate he has prejudged matters that come before him for decision. "I can say I am devoted to the law and its traditions," he said.

He is the great-great grandson of Richard Furman, founder of Furman University. His great-grandfather was the school's first president.

Until he was named to the court of appeals for North and South Carolina, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, he held a partnership in the family's large and respected law firm.

Asked once about his politics, Haynsworth smiled and answered, "Some say I'm a liberal."

It is one measure of his politics that U.S. Sen. Strom Thurmond, when the conservative mainstay of South Carolina's Democratic Party, preferred other, more conservative men for the appeals court judgeship in 1957. But the Senate confirmed him without a dissenting vote. Before the vote, there had been some grumbling among senators who thought the post should go to a man with some judicial experience.

Haynsworth has trod a middle-of-the-road course on the appeals court. He has sustained desegregation rulings and written that the pace of desegregation must be maintained. However, a director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Clarence Mitchell, has said the association regards his key decisions as having taken a position in favor of segregation.

He is, say friends, a "highly disciplined man" busy with his work seven days a week. He married an Augusta, Ga., divorcee 23 years ago. Mrs. Haynsworth has two sons by her former marriage.

ORDINANCE NO. 70-49
AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE SPECIFIC SAFETY REQUIREMENTS OF THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION OF OHIO RELATING TO CONSTRUCTION AND PUBLISHED BY THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION OF OHIO FOR THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO:

WHEREAS, it is deemed necessary and in the best interest of the citizens of Circleville to have rules and regulations requiring safety requirements for construction, and the State of Ohio through the Industrial Commission has developed such rules and regulations which may be adopted by reference;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio:

Section 1: That Rule 1C-3-01 through 1C-3-16.07 of the Specific Safety Requirements of the Industrial Commission of Ohio, relative to construction is hereby adopted and incorporated except as hereinafter modified, and the said Code, except as modified is made a part of this Ordinance as if the same were fully rewritten herein which together with the modifications hereinafter listed, shall constitute for the City of Circleville the Construction Safety Requirements. Copies can be found in the Clerk of Council's Office and the County Law Library (with copies available to the public at cost.)

Section 2: The modifications to the Specific Safety Requirements of the Industrial Commission of Ohio relating to construction are as follows:

(a) Whenever the words "State of Ohio" are used they shall be changed to "City of Circleville."

(b) Whenever the words "Industrial Commission of Ohio," are used they shall be changed to "Director of Public Safety or Building Official or their designee."

(c) These shall be added to the Construction Safety Requirements the following: "That any person firm or corporation who shall be found guilty of violation of those requirements herein shall be prohibited for one (1) year from performing any work for the City of Circleville, Ohio, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than fifty dollars ($50.00). Each day of violation shall constitute a separate offense." "The Director of Public Safety or Building Official or their designee shall enforce the provisions and requirements contained herein."

Section 3: That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

ORDINANCE NO. 72-49
AN ORDINANCE RESTRICTING THE MAINTENANCE OF CERTAIN ANIMALS WITHIN THE CITY LIMITS

WHEREAS, the maintenance of certain animals near inhabited dwellings is considered unsafe and unhealthy;

WHEREAS, for the safety and public health of the citizens of the city, restrictions should be placed on the proximity of said animals to inhabited dwellings; and therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1: That no person shall permit, maintain or keep any livestock, cattle, horses, ponies, mules, swine, sheep, goats, fowl or other animals, other than domestic pets, or animals being processed for slaughter, within one hundred feet (100) of any inhabited dwelling within the limits of the city of Circleville, Ohio, provided, however that this Section shall not apply to a bona fide stockyard operation as hereinafter defined.

SECTION 2: That the term "stockyard" when used in Section 1 of this Ordinance means any place, establishment, or facility commonly known as stockyards, conducted or operated for compensation or profit as a public market, consisting of pens, or other inclosures, and their appurtenances, in which live cattle, sheep, swine, horses, ponies, mules, fowl or goats are received, held, or kept for sale or shipment in commerce.

SECTION 3: That no person lawfully maintaining or keeping any animal within the city limits shall permit the feces or other like mixture to lay open uncovered for a period of more than five (5) days.

SECTION 4: That any person who shall be found guilty of violating any section of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not more than fifty dollars ($50.00). Each day that a person is in violation of this Ordinance shall constitute a separate offense.

SECTION 5: That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Desegregation Increase Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials in the federal office of Civil Rights say the administration's new guidelines have not slowed school desegregation.

In fact, they predict a record increase this fall.

The proportion of Negroes attending formerly all-white schools is expected to jump from 20 per cent to 40 per cent.

"The desegregation plans keep pouring in," said a spokesman for the Office of Civil Rights-OCR. "The dire predictions have not been borne out."

He referred to criticism that greeted the administration's new desegregation guidelines July 3.

The guidelines call for greater emphasis on court-ordered desegregation than on administrative termination of aid. And they allow districts with problems such as lack of facilities an additional year to complete desegregation.

Pessimists predicted that southern die-hards would use the guidelines as an excuse to delay desegregation further.

But OCR officials say only 12 districts have asked to renegotiate plans since the guidelines were announced. The total for the year is 32. Most asking for renegotiation want additional time to complete desegregation.

"Since July 3 there have been no more or less requests for renegotiation than in similar periods," the spokesman said.

And Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, said recently there would be no renegotiation of agreed plans.

Administrative desegregation actions have been started against 48 additional districts since July 3, the OCR official said.

"It's full-speed ahead as far as we are concerned," he added.

An unresolved issue, however, is the new relationship between the OCR, an arm of HEW, and the Justice Department. The two departments were given responsibilities for school desegregation and the new guidelines.

Communication at first was poor, officials say. But each department now is letting the other know what actions it intends to take.

Justice handles court suits and OCR administrative desegregation actions.

In addition OCR officials say there has been no pressure from higher up to ease the pace of desegregation.

More than three-quarters of the 4,425 school districts in the 17 southern and border states have desegregated. An additional 235 have agreed to eliminate dual school systems this fall.

Red Savagery

In connection with the savage attacks on a hospital and a school in South Vietnam by the Viet Cong, several points need to be commented on. First, obviously, is the savagery of selecting such targets.

There was no way of mistaking the intent of the Viet Cong. The hospital and the school were the deliberate targets of the terrorists.

War continues to be hell, and perhaps there really isn't any difference between a life lost in an attack on a hospital and one taken in combat. But civilized peoples always have condemned deliberate military attacks on the helpless, the wounded or the very young.

The Viet Cong, of course, are not civilized. But even so, where is the condemnation one might expect from the world at such despicable acts?

One can only imagine the horrible outcry which would have been raised had it been U. S. forces which even accidentally bombed a hospital or a school.

The U. S. forces guarding the hospital at Cam Ranh Bay obviously were not prepared for such an atrocity. The terrorists apparently had no difficulty slipping past guards nor in throwing their bombs systematically in ward after ward and then strafing the building with bullets.

More than 700 U. S. servicemen were patients in the hospital. Scores suffered additional injuries in the attack, and there were some deaths.

It would do little good to ascertain why these patients were so poorly protected. But let every U. S. commander in Vietnam now know that no tactic, no matter how inhumane, is out of bounds to the enemy.

Each of them should be prepared not only to repel such attacks in the future, but to inflict maximum damage on any Viet Cong troops selecting such targets.

"That's funny," commented his companion. "I got divorced for the same reason."

An angry tailor warned a delinquent customer, "This is my eleventh and last request for payment for the suit I made you three years ago. If I have not received your check by Monday, I will put the matter in the hands of the toughest collection agency in this state."

Back came this reply: "I don't remember the suit to which you refer. If you ever made it I never got it. If it was delivered, it didn't fit. I probably paid for it anyhow. And if I didn't, I can't. Respectfully . . ."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The kidneys are two organs of outstanding complexity that make any elaborate chemical plant shrivel by comparison. In some way the kidneys play a role in almost every function of the body in health and in disease.

The kidneys are two organs about the size of a small melon. They are bean-shaped and lie high in the abdominal cavity. Closely attached to them are the adrenal glands which play a most important role in the hormone balance of the body. Actually the adrenal glands do not function directly through the kidneys.

Thousands of smaller tubes, nephrons, are filtering agents through which the blood passes and then empties its waste products into the urine. Now the urine passes into larger tubules which concentrate into the curve or pelvis of the kidney. It is at this point that most of the waste products from the blood have been emptied and are ready to be excreted from the body.

A tiny tube, the ureter, carries the urine from the kidney down into the urinary bladder where it collects until it is ready to be voided. Another tube, the urethra, has a powerful muscle which keeps the urine from leaking out of the bladder. This muscle relaxes when sufficient urine has accumulated and dilated the urinary bladder.

This process itself would be sufficient to make the kidneys wonderful organs. However, the other functions far outshine this one. By a delicate mechanism, the kidneys play a role in preventing an excess loss of important chemicals and minerals from the blood stream. Toxic drugs that might injure other organs of the body are removed while valuable chemicals and nutrients are preserved.

The kidneys are subjected to infections and all the other diseases that affect other organs. Infections are known as nephritis and when particularly severe may alter the proper function of the kidney. The kidney can also be damaged by birth deformities within the organ itself and by anatomical changes in the urinary tract.

Stones or deposits of calcium or uric acid may lodge in the pelvis of the kidney or in the ureters and cause the pain that first attracts attention of the doctor to them.

So remarkable are the kidneys that the body can function in perfect health with only one kidney if it is in normal condition. The microscopic study of the urine and the chemical analysis of the blood indicate the state of the kidney's function. By special X-rays, using opaque dyes, the kidneys can be studied for abnormalities.

One of the great contributions to modern medicine is the kidney machine which is used to remove waste products that accumulate in the blood stream when the kidneys are not functioning correctly. Uremia is a serious disorder due to the kidneys' failure to eliminate toxic waste products. The mechanical process by which the kidney machine works is known as dialysis, which has been responsible for saving innumerable lives that might have otherwise succumbed to kidney failure.

In short, there could have been no Apollo 11 if it had not

'Moon Money' Explained

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The standard "liberal" attack on our space program is that the money spent on going to the moon would have been more usefully employed in solving some of our domestic problems. So we have cliché piled on cliché: we could have renovated our slums or raised the standard of living in rural Mississippi to equal that of the New York City ghettos if only we had allocated to "social welfare" the $21 billion which NASA has spent on the moon project in the decade since President John F. Kennedy decided that moon-going was a national priority.

The whole "liberal" attack ignores some economic realities. In the first place, ninety per cent of $21 billion spent by NASA in a decade has gone directly to industry. This means that it has gone into payrolls or dividends which, in turn, have been spent for food, clothing, television sets, cars, and what-not. Great machine tool industries have been supported; landlords have collected rents; gasoline has been sold — and lots of people have been employed who might otherwise have been thrown on the labor market. Even the ghettos have benefited, for blue collar workers employed on contracts that originated with NASA might otherwise have been pushed down in the economic scale, thus adding to congestion in our central cities.

The truth is that our economic system is a seamless web: the industries favored by NASA for space development have paid taxes that have enabled Washington to appropriate money for such things as Housing and Urban Development or the Office of Economic Opportunity. The "Keynesian multiplier" works to put money in motion in innumerable ways.

If we had had no space program we might still have had a prosperous economic system over the past decade. But nobody can say that the money would have gone to feed the poor. It might simply have been diverted to frivolous non-essentials.

Each separate Apollo shot cost about $355,000,000. It becomes apparent where the money went when we read over the list of industrial and management corporations that shared in putting the Apollo 11 astronauts on the moon. Boeing provided the technical integration and evaluation for the project and was also responsible for the first stage of the Saturn rocket. General Electric did qualitative check - up work. North American Rockwell made the main engine for the Saturn rocket, it also made the command and service module. Grumman manufactured the LEM, the lunar landing module which gently deposited Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin on the moon's surface. The AC Electronic Division of General Motors provided the guidance and navigation equipment. McDonnell-Douglas was the contractor for the third stage of the Saturn rocket. IBM and Bendix did the instrumentation for the Saturn. Raytheon made the computer for the mission's guidance system. ILC Industries manufactured the space suits. Hamilton Standard the portable life support systems which Armstrong and Aldrin carried on their backs for their "moon walk." Avco Corporation did the heat shield, made from a plastic material which wears away as it absorbs heat.

In short, there could have been no Apollo 11 if it had not been for American industry. And if there were no American industry, all of us would be living in squalor. Without Boeing, the economy of Seattle, Wash., would be on the rocks. Grumman keeps the Long Island community of Bethpage prosperous. Hamilton Standard, at Windsor Locks, Conn., adds to the attractiveness of the Hartford State Capitol region. McDonnell-Douglas is needed to keep Huntington Beach in California off the breadlines. Avco's plastic division is part of the Lowell, Mass., compensation for the departure of the local textile industry to the South.

So when it is said that our "moon money" might better have been employed if it had gone into urban redevelopment in New York's Harlem or the Watts area of Los Angeles, it must be understood that the presumptive Harlem - Watts gains would have been a loss for Lowell, Bethpage, Huntington Beach, and Windsor Locks. Money for Harlem might have been wasted on the support of certain political and social service worker leeches: NASA, on the other hand, has been a wonderfully efficient agency. So maybe the moon shots have done more for more Americans that would have been the case if the money had been otherwise employed.

OBSCENE MATERIALS

It was announced this week by the Chairman of the Subcommittee to which bills dealing with obscene literature have been referred that hearings would be held on this subject beginning the week of Sept. 22. This is a necessary step toward what we hope will result in the enactment of meaningful legislation. Since I introduced a bill to curb the flow of this smut back in March, I have probably received more mail on this than any other subject (over 1,000 letters and 3,000 names on petitions). Even though over 200 Members of the House and 45 Senators had introduced similar bills, no hearings were scheduled. I wrote to every such author and suggested — if they were sincere in their effort — they would make their feelings known to the Chairman. Over 100 wrote letters including members of the leadership in the House and Senate. Whether this effort resulted in the hearings being scheduled, I do not know. I am just pleased that some action is being taken; and I thank you for the effective support you have given. We are a long way from having a law passed. But, we have moved off dead center.

INTEREST RATE CONTROL ACT

Although not much has been said about it, hearings will begin in September on the Interest Rate Control Act of 1969 before the House Banking and Currency Committee.

The Interest Rate Control Act (Public Law 90-505) is going to expire on Sept. 21, 1969. First enacted during the credit crunch in 1966 to cool the intense competition between banks and savings and loan associations for the funds of savers, it has been extended every year. This law authorizes the several regulatory agencies to set ceilings on the interest paid on savings-type accounts. The reasons for the initial enactment of this legislation exist today. Commercial banks can pay an interest rate of 4 per cent on small accounts, 5 per cent on larger certificates up to $100,000 and 6½ per cent on certificates of deposits above $100,000.

Savings and loan associations are authorized to pay 4½ per cent on passbook savings and 5½ per cent on certificates of deposits. The discrepancy in allowable interest rates, between the two types of institutions, is designed to encourage savers to put money in Savings and Loan Associations for the mortgage market for housing.

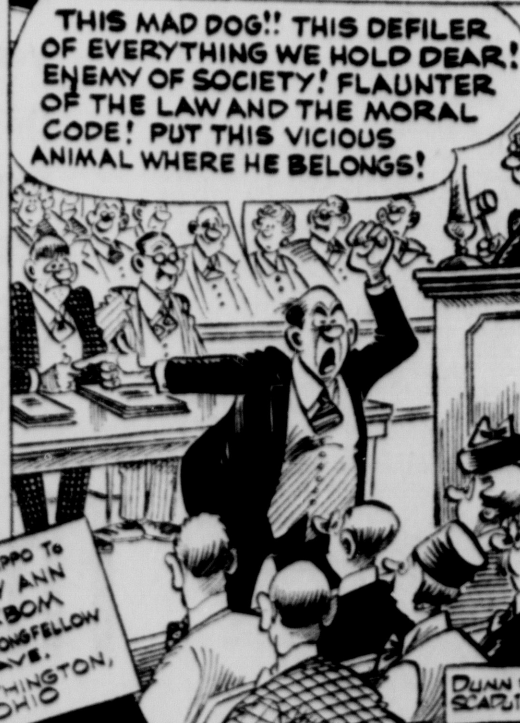

These provisions were extended last year and will probably be extended by Congress for an additional year before Sept. 21, 1969.

NEW YORK (AP) — A big increase is under way in purchases by corporations of minority interests in other companies, with ramifications for American industry that are far from clear.

Management analysts note that the trend is several years old but claim that in the past few months there appears to have been a surprising surge of activity, some of it by companies that never before purchased another's stock.

A minority position means that the purchasing company acquires a stock position less than necessary for control but large enough in many instances to give it considerable say in management.

In some respects the development has gone unnoticed because federal officials and others have concentrated on a related and more noticeable activity—corporate acquisitions and mergers, in which control passes from one group to another.

According to W. T. Grimm & Co., Chicago-based management consulting firm, merger activity in the first six months of the year rose 65 per cent, from 1,703 in 1968 to 2,815 through June 1969.

However, estimates by Peter Fillion, Grimm executive vice president, indicate that the rate of increase in minority purchases is two or three times as great as for majority purchases. Hard statistics are not available, but Fillion believes this is about 180 per cent.

This intertwining of corporate affairs might create serious antitrust problems, for it could tend to reduce competition in the marketplace or at least create the suspicion of favoritism or reciprocal buying and selling. Reciprocity involves buying and selling by two or more companies to the exclusion of others. Products and services of the companies are purchased on the basis of favoritism, sometimes in complete disregard of price factors.

Ironically, some of the minority-purchase activity is being generated by corporations which themselves are considered candidates for being taken over by more aggressive enterprises. Goaded by this threat, they seek to diversify.

Although the reasons for the surge are not completely known, Fillion postulates one likely set of circumstances:

An old established company with a mature product line, markets and executives—and lots of cash in the bank—realizes that it is not making the advances it would like and that its image could suffer.

The stock market already has concluded that the company is going nowhere and assigns a low price to its stock. Disturbed by this, and realizing that this alone could make them vulnerable to a takeover, the company's executives seek to buy into a young, dynamic company.

The smaller company, however, comes at a very high price. If its stock were traded on the market it would command a price-earnings ratio of 30, meaning that its stock would be priced 30 times earnings.

The older company cannot afford so high a price, for the effect would be to dilute the value of its own stock. In addition, the young company hardly wants to marry an old codger. It resists.

But the smaller company, because it has aspirations to grow swiftly, could use cold hard cash. With interest rates sky-high, the young firm cannot raise money. The old codger has it, and is induced to make a loan that can be converted to stock later on.

The older firm hopes that when the two companies work closely together, a result of the loan, it can convince the younger enterprise that life together as a couple would be better than going separate ways.

It hopes also that the association with the younger company will improve its image, help boost its stock price and thus permit it to buy into the smaller company on more favorable terms.

There are many other reasons also, and they all mean that the Justice Department is going to have lots of antitrust business sometime in the future.

Red Savagery

In connection with the savage attacks on a hospital and a school in South Vietnam by the Viet Cong, several points need to be commented on. First, obviously, is the savagery of selecting such targets.

There was no way of mistaking the intent of the Viet Cong. The hospital and the school were the deliberate targets of the terrorists.

War continues to be hell, and perhaps there really isn't any difference between a life lost in an attack on a hospital and one taken in combat. But civilized peoples always have condemned deliberate military attacks on the helpless, the wounded or the very young.

The Viet Cong, of course, are not civilized. But even so, where is the condemnation one might expect from the world at such despicable acts?

One can only imagine the horrible outcry which would have been raised had it been U. S. forces which even accidentally bombed a hospital or a school.

The U. S. forces guarding the hospital at Cam Ranh Bay obviously were not prepared for such an atrocity. The terrorists apparently had no difficulty slipping past guards nor in throwing their bombs systematically in ward after ward and then strafing the building with bullets.

More than 700 U. S. servicemen were patients in the hospital. Scores suffered additional injuries in the attack, and there were some deaths.

It would do little good to ascertain why these patients were so poorly protected. But let every U. S. commander in Vietnam now know that no tactic, no matter how inhumane, is out of bounds to the enemy.

Each of them should be prepared not only to repeat such attacks in the future, but to inflict maximum damage on any Viet Cong troops selecting such targets.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The kidneys are two organs of outstanding complexity that make any elaborate chemical plant shrivel by comparison. In some way the kidneys play a role in almost every function of the body in health and in disease.

The kidneys are two organs about the size of a small melon. They are bean-shaped and lie high in the abdominal cavity. Closely attached to them are the adrenal glands which play a most important role in the hormone balance of the body. Actually the adrenal glands do not function directly through the kidneys.

Thousands of smaller tubes, nephrons, are filtering agents through which the blood passes and then empties its waste products into the urine. Now the urine passes into larger tubules which concentrate into the curve or pelvis of the kidney. It is at this point that most of the waste products from the blood have been emptied and are ready to be excreted from the body.

NIXON'S WELFARE PLAN

The President's Welfare Reform Program was announced last week, and is a seven point attack on the problem. It proposes that:

1. The Federal government pay a basic income to those American families who cannot care for themselves in whichever state they live.

2. Dependent families receiving such income be given good reason to go to work by making the first sixty dollars a month they earn completely their own, with no deductions from their benefits.

3. An addition be made available to the incomes of the "working poor", to encourage them to go on working and to eliminate the possibility of making more from welfare than from wages.

4. These payments be made upon certification of income, with demeaning and costly investigations replaced by simplified reviews and spot checks and no eligibility requirement that the household be without a father. That present requirement in many states has the effect of breaking up families and contributes to delinquency and violence.

5. All employable persons who choose to accept these payments be required to register for work or job training and be required to accept that work or training, provided suitable jobs are available either locally or if transportation is provided. Adequate and convenient day care would be provided children wherever necessary to enable a parent to train or work. The only exception to this work requirement would be mothers of pre-school children.

6. A major expansion of job training and day care facilities, so that current welfare recipients able to work can be set on the road to self-reliance.

7. Uniform federal payment minimums for the present three categories of welfare aid to adults — the aged, the blind, and the disabled.

Generally, the plan is a step in the right direction in that it strongly emphasizes training and work rather than unrestricted doles.

It seems to say to the taxpayer, those who are able to work must work. As the President said, the only way to end poverty in America is to work our way out of it. I like the fact that it emphasizes a reversal of the trend to let Washington do everything and allows people at the local level to have more to say.

Much debate will ensue before any plan is adopted by Congress. But, as I say, it is a proposal which deserves our optimistic consideration.

As you develop your own views, let me hear from you.

INTEREST RATE CONTROL ACT

Although not much has been said about it, hearings will begin in September on the Interest Rate Control Act of 1969 before the House Banking and Currency Committee.

The Interest Rate Control Act (Public Law 90-505) is going to expire on Sept. 21, 1969. First enacted during the credit crunch in 1966 to cool the intense competition between banks and savings and loan associations for the funds of savers, it has been extended every year. This law authorizes the several regulatory agencies to set ceilings on the interest paid on savings-type accounts.

The reasons for the initial enactment of this legislation exist today. Commercial banks can pay an interest rate of 4 per cent on small accounts, 5 per cent on larger certificates up to $100,000 and 6 1/2 per cent on certificates of deposits above $100,000.

Savings and loan associations are authorized to pay 4 1/2 per cent on passbook savings and 5 1/2 per cent on certificates of deposits. The discrepancy in allowable interest rates, between the two types of institutions, is designed to encourage savers to put money in Savings and Loan Associations for the mortgage market for housing.

These provisions were extended last year and will probably be extended by Congress for an additional year before Sept. 21, 1969.

NEW YORK (AP) — A big increase is under way in purchases by corporations of minority interests in other companies, with ramifications for American industry that are far from clear.

Management analysts note that the trend is several years old but claim that in the past few months there appears to have been a surprising surge of activity, some of it by companies that never before purchased another's stock.

A minority position means that the purchasing company acquires a stock position less than necessary for control but large enough in many instances to give it considerable say in management.

In some respects the development has gone unnoticed because federal officials and others have concentrated on a related and more noticeable activity—corporate acquisitions and mergers, in which control passes from one group to another.

However, estimates by Peter Fillion, Grimm executive vice president, indicate that the rate of increase in minority purchases is two or three times as great as for majority purchases. Hard statistics are not available, but Fillion believes this is about 180 per cent.

This intertwining of corporate affairs might create serious antitrust problems, for it could tend to reduce competition in the marketplace or at least create the suspicion of favoritism or reciprocal buying and selling. Reciprocity involves buying and selling by two or more companies to the exclusion of others. Products and services of the companies are purchased on the basis of favoritism, sometimes in complete disregard of price factors.

Ironically, some of the minority-purchase activity is being generated by corporations which themselves are considered candidates for being taken over by more aggressive enterprises. Goaded by this threat, they seek to diversify.

Although the reasons for the surge are not completely known, Fillion postulates one likely set of circumstances:

An old established company with a mature product line, markets and executives—and lots of cash in the bank—realizes that it is not making the advances it would like and that its image could suffer.

The stock market already has concluded that the company is going nowhere and assigns a low price to its stock. Disturbed by this, and realizing that this alone could make them vulnerable to a takeover, the company's executives seek to buy into a young, dynamic company.

The smaller company, however, comes at a very high price. If its stock were traded on the market it would command a price-earning ratio of 30, meaning that its stock would be priced 30 times earnings.

The older company cannot afford so high a price, for the effect would be to dilute the value of its own stock. In addition, the young company hardly wants to marry an old codger. It resists.

But the smaller company, because it has aspirations to grow swiftly, could use cold hard cash. With interest rates sky-high, the young firm cannot raise money. The old codger has it, and is induced to make a loan that can be converted to stock later on.

The older firm hopes that when the two companies work closely together, a result of the loan, it can convince the younger enterprise that life together as a couple would be better than going separate ways.

It hopes also that the association with the younger company will improve its image, help boost its stock price and thus permit it to buy into the smaller company on more favorable terms.

There are many other reasons also, and they all mean that the Justice Department is going to have lots of antitrust business sometime in the future.

Military Industry Pumps Hard Cash Into Ohio Economy

EDITORS: The military-industrial complex has come under much criticism from the public and the Congress. This complex includes huge companies producing goods for the military. Billions of dollars are spent in Ohio each year for military and defense weapons.

This is the first of a two-part series on defense spending and how it affects Ohio's economy.

By STEVE DRAKE
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The military industry in Ohio is a multi-billion-dollar-a-year giant which the state cannot afford to lose.

"Ohio is a state which is producing many war goods materials. We are great producers of these types of goods in one form or another," said Michael Hobson director of economic research for the Ohio Development Department. "A high percentage, perhaps one of every five Ohio jobs, comes from a government contract."

Last year Ohio industries hauled in $1.64 billion in prime military contracts.

The federal government awarded another $654 million to Ohio industries, universities and private foundations for research and development (R&D) projects.

Payrolls from these military contracts and R&D projects in 1968 totaled $360 million. This figure does not include the $859.4 million paid to the more than 102,000 federal employees in Ohio.

"Military spending is quite important, very important, to the state's economy," said Wilfred

ORDINANCE NO. 71-69
AN ORDINANCE ADOPTING THE UNIFORM BUILDING CODE VOLUME III-HOUSING 1967 EDITION FOR THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO.

WHEREAS, good health and welfare of the citizens of Circleville require that they have housing which has minimum standards; and WHEREAS, the existing Housing Code enacted by the Circleville Board of Health has not proven adequate to insure such minimum housing conditions;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, that the following amendments shall be adopted and incorporated as if fully repeated and set out herein, same and except such portions as are deleted, modified or amended, a copy of which can be found in the Clerk of Council's Office and the County Law Library (with copies available to the public at cost) and whenever a section, provision, or requirement of the Uniform Building Code, Volume I or II, 1967 Edition is referred to or mentioned, for purposes of this Code, it shall be controlling unless it is in conflict with the same, or similar section, provision, or requirement of the Hamilton County Building as adopted and modified by Ordinance 77-67 in which case the Hamilton County Building Code as adopted shall be controlling.

(a) In Chapter one (1) there shall be added a Section H-104 which shall read: "Section H-104 whenever a section, provision, or requirement of the Uniform Building Code, Volume I or II, 1967 Edition is referred to or mentioned, for purposes of this Code, it shall be controlling unless it is in conflict with the same, or similar section, provision, or requirement of the Hamilton County Building as adopted and modified by Ordinance 77-67 in which case the Hamilton County Building Code as adopted shall be controlling."

(b) In Chapter three (3) there shall be added a Section H-205 which shall read: "Section H-205 all the powers conferred upon the Building Official shall also be considered to be given to the City Health Commissioner."

Section 2: That the provisions of this ordinance shall be in addition to any other laws or ordinances and shall not limit or excuse the performance of this ordinance or of any other law or ordinance enacted previously or any enacted hereafter.

Section 4: That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

Helps Solve 3 Biggest FALSE TEETH Worries and Problems
A little FASTEETH sprinkled on your dentures does all this:
(1) Holds false teeth more firmly in place;
(2) Holds them more comfortably;
(3) Lets you bite up to 35% harder without discomfort. FASTEETH Powder is alkaline (non-acid). Won't sour. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.

L'Esperance, an Ohio State University economics professor. "Too many people are not aware of the tremendous economic impact of the military research and development contracts. R&D is very important because out of them usually come new products that can be commercially exploited."

Ohio industries, through prime military contracts, produce goods from tanks and huge jet engines to milk and machine tools.

Prime military contracts in 1968 went to 545 Ohio companies. Most of them — 246 or 45 per cent — were located in the Cleveland-Akron-Canton area.

Some 159 companies in the Cincinnati-Dayton area received prime contracts. Sixty-six Columbus industries were awarded contracts and 37 projects went to Toledo area companies. The remaining 47 prime military contracts were scattered throughout the state.

Three major Ohio-based military industries were surveyed to gauge the economic impact of the prime military contracts on Ohio and the local community.

The largest, the General Electric plant at the Cincinnati suburb of Evendale, employs 15,000 workers.

Company officials said "our main product is to research, develop and construct jet engines." Major engines produced for the military at Evendale presently include the J79 used in the McDonnell F-4 Phantom and the TF39 used in the giant Lockheed C-5 transport plane.

The original TF39 engine was a $450 million, five-year contract.

Company officials said the vast majority of the plant's 12,000 employees work in production for defense contracts. The company pays $150 million a year in salaries. It pays $25 to $35 million a year for local purchases in the Cincinnati area.

The second largest military producer surveyed is the North American Rockwell Corp. which employs 8,000 persons at its Columbus plant.

Major NAR products include the OV-10A Bronco, used by the Air Force, Marines and Navy in South Vietnam; The RA-5C twin jet carrier for the Navy; the T-2C Buckeye, a Navy training jet; The Condor missile for the Navy and guidance kits for Air Force 2,000-pound high explosive bombs.

Company officials said North American pays $65 million a year or more than $1 million a week in salaries.

The company subcontracted $23.5 million of the work to Ohio firms and about $9 million to companies based in Franklin County.

NAR officials said employment has dropped below the 8,000 yearly average but said they hoped to hire more workers if they win the contract — expected to be let in December — for the F15 Air Force fighter jet.

The Allison Division of the General Motors Corp. employs about 3,000 at its plant near the Cleveland Hopkins Airport.

The division produces the M10 self-propelled howitzer, the M521 amphibious airborne assault vehicle, better known as the Gen. Sheridan tank and 81 mm mortar shells — about 2.5 million since April 1968.

In addition it has a research and development contract with the U.S. and West Germany for the MBT70 main battle tank.

The company pays about $3 million a year in salaries and purchases more than a million dollars a year from local merchants and companies.

Increasing the impact of military spending on Ohio's economy are two Air Force bases and the huge Defense Construction Supply Center (DCSC) in Columbus.

The largest is Wright-Patterson AFB near Dayton. About 20,000 civilians and 8,000 military personnel work on the base. The civilians are paid $290 million a year or about $6 million a week.

The base spends nearly $28 million a year for supply and services, minor construction and utilities.

Lockbourne AFB south of Columbus employs about 1,000 civilians and about 6,500 Air Force personnel. The military payroll totals $40 million a year while civilians are paid about $4 million yearly.

Lockbourne procures about $30 million a year from companies and merchants in the Columbus area.

DCSC, which buys most of the supplies for the U. S. Armed Forces, employs nearly 5,000 persons. The civilian payroll totals nearly $4 million a month with another $69,000 a month paid to military personnel working at the center.

Dear Abby: Are Parents Too Careful?

DEAR ABBY: This is for the mother who said she wouldn't leave her 11-year-old daughter alone even 15 minutes with her teen-age brother because "sex is sex" to a boy until he reaches manhood, and he doesn't care if she's his sister or his cousin. I am a 14-year-old girl with two brothers, 16 and 18. I have known where babies come from since I was 10. And so have my brothers. When I have a problem I think my brothers would understand more than Mom, I go to them. If they think I should ask Mom about it, I do. When I am in my brother's room alone, we are usually talking about something. Sure we talk about sex. Who doesn't? (We never practice it). If it weren't for these talks I would never know my brothers, or a boy's point of view.

I am glad my Mom is not as "Careful" as that lady who wrote in.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for printing that letter from "CAREFUL IN W. VA."

Wish to the good Lord that my mother had been more careful when I was a young girl growing up.

I come from a middle-class, well-educated "Christian" family. Who would suspect that an "affectionate" uncle would fondle me intimately when I was six or a brother-in-law would handle me when I was nine? Or the nice old neighborhood grocer would try to get familiar with me in the back room of his store when nobody else was there.

No, I wasn't raped, thank God. But I was handled and helpless and bewildered.

Now, as a result of those childhood memories, I have a real problem trying to be the "loving" responsive wife every man wants.

Sign me "COLD IN TEXAS"

DEAR ABBY: One would have to have a very sick mind to sexually molest a child, but unfortunately there have always been — and always shall be sick people.

I silently bless you every time I see a letter in your column from a mother warning other mothers to beware of "loving" relatives who may molest a child. If you can save just one child from my fate you will have accomplished more than most people do in a lifetime, for I was the victim of a "loving" grandfather.

VICTIM IN TACOMA
DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old boy, and a better authority on how teen-agers think than that lady signed "CAREFUL". If someone thinks an 11-year-old girl, walking around in her pajamas is going to turn me on, they are crazy.

NOT TURNED ON
DEAR ABBY: I have to agree with "CAREFUL". You can't be too careful.

I was shocked when my husband told me what went on in the hayloft while his parents were milking the cows. I say a lot depends upon the upbringing the kids have had. (My husband wasn't anything to brag about).

I don't believe in leaving anything to chance. And believe me, I am still going to keep a close watch on my children, Abby.

RESOLUTION NO. 77-69
A RESOLUTION OBJECTING TO APPLICATION FOR PERMIT TO SELL ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

WHEREAS, The attached petition was received objecting to the location of a liquor permit on the premises located at 214 West Water Street; and

WHEREAS, The Council of the City of Circleville is in agreement with the complaints alleged in said petition regarding the suitability of the location; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, that the following amendments shall be adopted and incorporated as if fully repeated and set out herein, same and except such portions as are deleted, modified or amended, a copy of which can be found in the Clerk of Council's Office and the County Law Library (with copies available to the public at cost) and whenever a section, provision, or requirement of the Uniform Building Code, Volume I or II, 1967 Edition is referred to or mentioned, for purposes of this Code, it shall be controlling unless it is in conflict with the same, or similar section, provision, or requirement of the Hamilton County Building as adopted and modified by Ordinance 77-67 in which case the Hamilton County Building Code as adopted shall be controlling.

(a) In Chapter one (1) there shall be added a Section H-104 which shall read: "Section H-104 whenever a section, provision, or requirement of the Uniform Building Code, Volume I or II, 1967 Edition is referred to or mentioned, for purposes of this Code, it shall be controlling unless it is in conflict with the same, or similar section, provision, or requirement of the Hamilton County Building as adopted and modified by Ordinance 77-67 in which case the Hamilton County Building Code as adopted shall be controlling."

(b) In Chapter three (3) there shall be added a Section H-205 which shall read: "Section H-205 all the powers conferred upon the Building Official shall also be considered to be given to the City Health Commissioner."

Section 2: That the provisions of this ordinance shall be in addition to any other laws or ordinances and shall not limit or excuse the performance of this ordinance or of any other law or ordinance enacted previously or any enacted hereafter.

Section 4: That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

Military Industry Pumps Hard Cash Into Ohio Economy

EDITORS: The military-industrial complex has come under much criticism from the public and the Congress. This complex includes huge companies producing goods for the military. Billions of dollars are spent in Ohio each year for military and defense weapons.

This is the first of a two-part series on defense spending and how it affects Ohio's economy.

By STEVE DRAKE
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The military industry in Ohio is a multi-billion-dollar-a-year giant which the state cannot afford to lose.

"Ohio is a state which is producing many war goods materials. We are great producers of these types of goods in one form or another," said Michael Hobson director of economic research for the Ohio Development Department. "A high percentage, perhaps one of every five Ohio jobs, comes from a government contract."

Last year Ohio industries hauled in $1.64 billion in prime military contracts.

The federal government awarded another $654 million to Ohio industries, universities and private foundations for research and development (R&D) projects.

Payrolls from these military contracts and R&D projects in 1968 totaled $360 million. This figure does not include the $859.4 million paid to the more than 102,000 federal employees in Ohio.

"Military spending is quite important, very important, to the state's economy," said Wilfred

ORDINANCE NO. 11-69
AN ORDINANCE ADOPTING THE UNIFORM BUILDING CODE, VOLUME 11-HOUSING, 1967 EDITION FOR THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO:

WHEREAS, good health and welfare of the citizens of Circleville require that they have housing which has minimum standards, and WHEREAS, the existing Housing Code enacted by the Circleville Board of Health has not proven adequate to insure such minimum housing conditions.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED BY the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio: Section 1: That Chapters 1 through 10 of the Uniform Building Code, Volume 11-Housing, 1967 Edition published by the International Conference of Building Officials is hereby adopted and incorporated as if fully repeated and set out herein, same and except such portions as are deleted, modified or amended below, a copy of which can be found in the Clerk of Council's Office and the County Law Library (with copies available to the public at cost) and from the date on which this ordinance shall take effect, this Code along with the deletion, modifications and amendments below shall be controlling within the limits of the City of Circleville, Ohio.

Section 2: That the following additions, deletions, modifications and amendments shall be as follows:

(a) In Chapter one (1) - there shall be added a Section H-104 which shall read: "Section H-104 whenever a section, provision, or requirement of the Uniform Building Code Volume 1 or II, 1967 Edition is referred to or mentioned, for purposes of this Code, it shall be controlling unless it is in conflict with the same, or similar section, provision, or requirement of the Hamilton County Building Code as adopted shall be controlling."

(b) In Chapter three (3) - there shall be added a Section H-205 which shall read: "Section H-205 all the powers conferred upon the Building Official shall also be considered to be given to the City Health Commissioner."

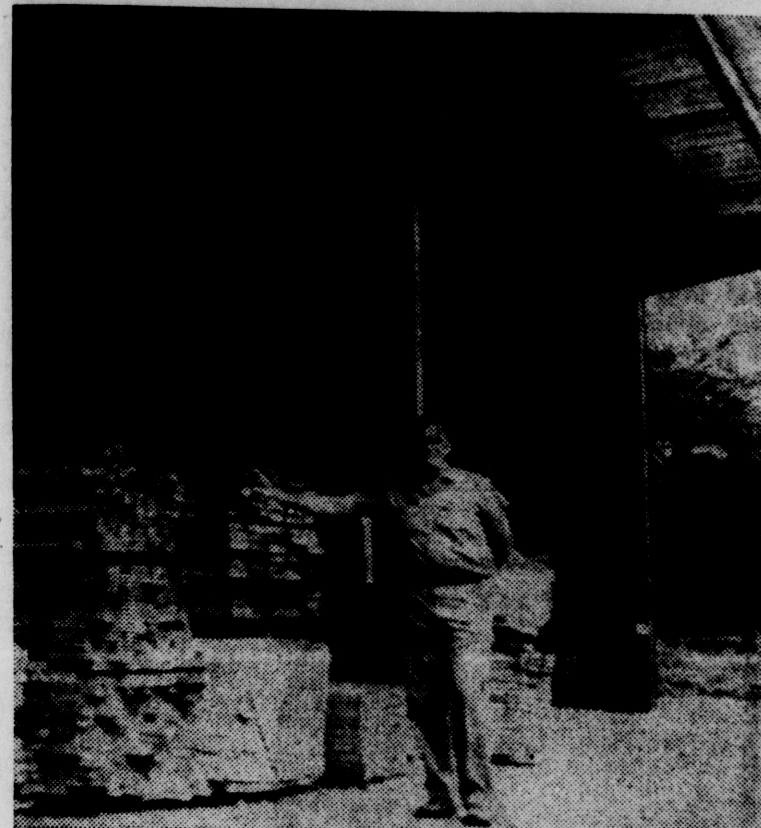

Section 3: That the provisions of this ordinance shall be in addition to any other laws or ordinances and shall not limit or excuse the performance of this ordinance nor of any other law or ordinance enacted previously or any enacted hereafter.

Section 4: That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

Dear Abby: Are Parents Too Careful?

DEAR ABBY: This is for "CAREFUL IN W. VA.": the mother who said she wouldn't leave her 11-year-old daughter alone even 15 minutes with her teen-age brother because "sex is sex" to a boy until he reaches manhood, and he doesn't care if she's his sister or his cousin. I am a 14-year-old girl with two brothers, 16 and 18. I have known where babies come from since I was 10. And so have my brothers. When I have a problem I think my brothers would understand more than Mom. I go to them. If they think I should ask Mom about it, I do. When I am in my brother's room alone, we are usually talking about something. Sure we talk about sex. Who doesn't? (We never practice it.) If it weren't for these talks I would never know my brothers, or a boy's point of view.

I am glad my Mom is not as "Careful" as that lady who wrote in.

LUCKY

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for printing that letter from "CAREFUL IN W. VA.":

Wish to the good Lord that my mother had been more careful when I was a young girl growing up.

I come from a middle-class, well-educated "Christian" family. Who would suspect that an "affectionate" uncle would fondle me intimately when I was six or a brother-in-law would handle me when I was nine? Or the nice old neighborhood grocer would try to get familiar with me in the back room of his store when nobody else was there.

No, I wasn't raped, thank God. But I was handled and helpless and bewildered.

Now, as a result of those childhood memories, I have a real problem trying to be the "loving" responsive wife every man wants.

Sign me "COLD IN TEXAS"

DEAR ABBY: One would have to have a very sick mind to sexually molest a child, but unfortunately there have always been — and always shall be — sick people.

I silently bless you every time I see a letter in your column from a mother warning other mothers to beware of "loving" relatives who may molest a child. If you can save just one child from my fate you will have accomplished more than most people do in a lifetime, for I was the victim of a "loving" grandfather.

Coleman-Lape Reunion
Held At Ted Lewis Park

The Coleman — Lape Reunion was held Sunday at Ted Lewis Park, Circleville.

Following the carry-in dinner a brief business meeting was held and officers named for the coming year.

Maynard Burns conducted the meeting and was also in charge of the program. Tim and Ty Burns entertained with music on the electric organ and drums. As a special selection, Tim played "Lara's Theme" from the movie, "Doctor Zhivago." Sherri Bumgarner sang two solos. Her selections were "Georgia Girl" and "Those were the Days."

Mrs. Edith Russell gave the invocation and followed with a reading on the meaning and intent of reunions. Mrs. Fred Bowsher read Robert Frost's poem "Stopping By Woods On A Snowy Evening" and then spoke on significance of one of its lines — "I have promises to keep." Katherine Reeser read a eulogy to her mother, Mrs. Susie Coleman Lape.

Photographs were presented for viewing, many of them were of those in the Coleman genealogy who were among the first settlers to come into the Ohio Valley. Dr. Edward Tiffin, the first governor of Ohio being one of them. When Dr. Tiffin, his sister Mary and her four sons, and Thomas Worthington and his family, arrived in Chillicothe there were just three houses standing in that hamlet.

Games and just visiting occupied the rest of the afternoon. The games and contests were conducted by Mrs. Shirley Waites and Mrs. Sonia Seymour.

Those from Circleville who attended the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, Steven, David, and Randy; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowsher; Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Burns, Tim and Ty; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Webb, Mike, Dave and Sam; Miss Sherri Bumgarner; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waites, Roxanne, Mark, Amy and Miriam; Mrs. Norma Collins and Judy; Mrs. Robert Reeser, Sr. and Mrs. Robert Bartholomew and Kim; Mrs. Leona Thomas and Jonnie, Miss Brenda Buskirk, Mrs. Richard Reeser and Joy, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas, and Mrs. Edith Russell.

Those who attended from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Coleman, Theresa, Bruce Jr., and Beth; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Coleman, Brent and Neil; Debbie, Doug and Pamela Cook; Carl Burns and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seymour and Jeff, Mr. and Mrs. Loy Coleman, Lori, Loy Jr., and Lisa; Mr. and Mrs. John Seymour, Mark and Kelly; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Reeser, Sherry and Michele; Mr. and Mrs. Max Reeser, Robbin and Mikie; Sheila Myers, Brenda and Terry; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hagen, Krista and Kevin; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hensley, Kathy, Gale Sue, Ron and Jack; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McDaniel, Heidi and Nisa; Theresa Coleman; Barry Coleman; Jack Taylor; Bill Smith; Mike Chaffin, Mrs. Linda Pyle, Rusty, and Carla; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Coleman and Billy Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Coleman and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reeser, Dougie and Shelly; Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Coleman, Yvonne and Vanessa.

Wofter Family
Reunion Held

The Annual Wofter Family Reunion was held Sunday at Junction City Park, Junction City.

Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Russell, Buddy and Larry; Mrs. Alberta Schramm, Mrs. Edna Wellington, of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley, Donna, Mike, Mark and Randy, Clarkburg, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. William Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Wofter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin St. Clair, Debbie and Kirby, Somerset.

Barbara McGregor, Wooster; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Leckrone, Joyce, and Gary, Mrs. Hallie May, Thornville; Wesley Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Baker, Logan; Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor and family, Mexahola; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Shahan and Laura, Hilliard; Mrs. Ray Thompson and Kathy, Mrs. Jack Thompson, Junction City. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Knight, Eddie, Donna and Sharon, New Straitsville; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walls and Tamara, Washington C. H.; Mr. and Mrs. Larry, Knight, Larry Jr. and Kevin; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Shahan, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Neely, Randy and Johnny; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Knight and Michele, New Lexington; Mrs. Edna Stevens and Melody, Mr. and Mrs. James Wofter, Mrs. Marvina Kratzer, Carolyn, Kathy and Eric, Clarksville; Dan Welty, Wilmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boyer, David, Steve and Mickey, Carroll.

Dinner Fetes
Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stevens, Route 1, Stoutsville, were guests of honor for a dinner party observing their 32nd Wedding Anniversary.

The dinner was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hanning, Route 1, New Lexington. Guests were entertained by a band composed of family members.

Kathy Ritter
Honored With Birthday Party

The 11th birthday of Kathy Ritter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ritter of 150 E. Mound St., was celebrated recently in her home with a party. Hostesses were Mrs. Carl Hemming and Mrs. Ritter.

Games were played with prizes awarded to Susie Prushing, Rommie Caudill, Dale Imler and Roni Kaiser.

Refreshments of cake, ice cream and soda pop were served.

Guests were Ronnie Leasure, Connie Forest, Jerry and Rodney Hemming, Terry Leasure, Debbie, Kathy and Susie Prushing; Cindy Thompson, Susie Ebert, Nanette Weaver, Dale Imler, Rommie Caudill, Roni Kaiser and Tony Ritter. A gift was sent by Mrs. Bill Fee.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritter and Mr. and Mrs. Hemming ended the party by taking the children for a hay ride.

Wedding Plans
Are Completed

Plans have been completed for the marriage of Miss Carol Ann Spangler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walton W. Spangler of 465 N. Court St., to Stephen C. Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Edwin Richardson of Warren, Mich., former Circleville residents.

The open church wedding will take place at the Ringgold United Methodist Church on Saturday, Sept. 13 at 2:30 in the afternoon with pre-nuptial music beginning at 2 p.m. Rev. John Redman and Rev. Eugene Flowers will officiate.

A reception will immediately follow the ceremony in the Service Center of the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church in Circleville.

Family Reunion
Set At Gold Cliff

The Blakeman, Brigner and Rapp families will hold a reunion Sunday, Aug. 31, at Goldcliff Park near Circleville.

A basket lunch will be served at noon in Shelter House 2.

When you are putting sliced meat in your freezer, place the slices close together to prevent them from drying.

Views on Television
By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Merv Griffin and company moved smoothly if uneventfully onto the CBS network Monday night, turning the network's battle for the late-night audience into a three-way contest.

Viewers who enjoyed the Griffin style during his years in syndication probably will like it equally in his new setting.

Griffin's first show seemed deliberately low key and almost folksy. His guest list was about par for any Monday—Woody Allen and Mims Mabley for comedy, Leslie Uggams with a couple of musical numbers, Hedy Lamarr for nostalgic glamor, and Kennedy associate Theodore Sorenson for a bit of political spice.

The show gave the network censors no particular problems but the mix of guests failed to result in anything scintillating.

There were even moments when the conversation jogged along with awkward pauses.

Sorenson admitted he was thinking about running for the U.S. Senate from New York. Miss Lamarr confessed she really wanted to be "a simple complicated person." Allen just wanted people to go see his latest movie. And Miss Uggams mostly just sang.

The theater from which the show now comes is more ornate than the old one and the stage sets more elaborate. Arthur Treacher is back as Merv's sidekick after major surgery.

Allen's appearance plugging movie is typical of the genre.

Network productions outside prime-time hours often are used by the networks as promotion vehicles for other programs on the network.

NBC's Johnny Carson and ABC's Joey Bishop both have stars of upcoming series and specials as guests whose most important assignment is to plug the product.

CBS formerly used daytime show plugs but since the demise of "Password," "To Tell the Truth" and others, CBS has been handicapped in this area.

Griffin's new late-night show thus probably will help. One of his first guests was Miss Uggams, whose CBS variety show will start soon.

Wounds Girl, 5

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Lisa-beth Hammond, 5, of Wayne Township, remained in critical condition at Grandview Hospital today with a head wound she received Sunday when a policeman's shotgun accidentally mis-fired.

Wayne Township Police Chief Isadore Friedman said the girl was "accidentally shot when Patrolman Douglas Stockman struggled with a man in the girl's home and hit him in the head with the shotgun, causing it to fire."

Yields Dope, Booze

JOHN DAY, Ore. (AP) — City Councilman Gordon Glass said the city found some interesting items in an old building it took over some time ago.

They included opium in brass tins with U.S. revenue strips still attached, several cans of Chinese 100-year-old eggs and a Teddy Roosevelt button.

The prize find was 72 bottles of Kentucky bourbon, distilled in 1913.

Burglars' Clothing
Loot Worth $45,000

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Burglars took $45,000 worth of clothing from the Plaza Men's Shop in Lancaster early Monday.

Police said the thieves gained entrance by picking the lock of an adjacent store and then tearing out a wall between the shops.

Coleman-Lape Reunion Held At Ted Lewis Park

The Coleman-Lape Reunion was held Sunday at Ted Lewis Park, Circleville.

Following the carry-in dinner a brief business meeting was held and officers named for the coming year.

Maynard Burns conducted the meeting and was also in charge of the program. Tim and Ty Burns entertained with music on the electric organ and drums. As a special selection, Tim played "Lara's Theme" from the movie, "Doctor Zhivago." Sherri Bumgarner sang two solos. Her selections were "Georgia Girl" and "Those were the Days."

Mrs. Edith Russell gave the invocation and followed with a reading on the meaning and intent of reunions. Mrs. Fred Bowsher read Robert Frost's poem "Stopping By Woods On A Snowy Evening" and then spoke on significance of one of its lines — "I have promises to keep." Katherine Reeser read a eulogy to her mother, Mrs. Susie Coleman Lape.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Merv Griffin and company moved smoothly if uneventfully onto the CBS network Monday night, turning the network's battle for the late-night audience into a three-way contest.

Viewers who enjoyed the Griffin style during his years in syndication probably will like it equally in his new setting.

Griffin's first show seemed deliberately low key and almost folksy. His guest list was about par for any Monday—Woody Allen and Mervyn Duvall for comedy, Leslie Uggams with a couple of musical numbers, Hedy Lamarr for nostalgic glamor, and Kennedy associate Theodore Sorenson for a bit of political spice.

The show gave the network

Red Machine Grinds To Halt; Lead Cut To 1/2 Game

Pirates Win, 12-5, In 10th On Errors

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates tore the Cincinnati Reds apart again Monday night with seven runs in the 10th inning and cut their lead in the West Division of the National League to a half game.

When they got through, the Reds had made five errors, blown a three-run lead going into the ninth and rendered the great hitting power almost helpless in the pinches.

The Pirates took three of the four-game series, out-hit and out-slugged the "Big Red Machine" with ease.

Prior to coming to Crosley Field Pittsburgh had been beaten by Cincinnati in the only four other games they had played. They caught the Reds wobbling from losing three of four to Montreal.

And as Cincinnati left town for St. Louis, first stop on a 10-day tour, Los Angeles was behind them in second place by a half game in the West Division.

Other teams in that division were idle Monday night.

Bob Moose started for Pittsburgh and gave up three earned runs before being replaced by Bruce Dal Canton after the seventh inning.

Dal Canton was the winning pitcher and now stands 8-2.

Gerry Arrigo started for Cincinnati and held Pittsburgh to two runs for six and two-thirds innings before giving way to Wayne Granger, Cincinnati's star relief pitcher.

Granger, who had allowed only one run in 20 innings of relief work, gave up five hits but not nearly that bad, for a collapsing infield and outfield had allowed five of those runs.

Cincinnati looked like a winner when Bobby Tolan hit a three-run homer in the third to put the locals ahead by two runs. Pittsburgh scored another run in the fourth and that was all until the ninth when they tied the game at five-all with three runs on three hits and an error. Only one of those runs was earned.

Then came the horrendous 10th when five hits along with two errors put the game beyond Cincinnati's reach.

Cincinnati had a chance to get out of the trouble when Jose Pagan bounced to Granger for an almost certain double play.

"Granger threw a sinker to second on that ball and Ruiz (Chico) dropped it. Then we were on our way," said Larry Shepard, Pittsburgh manager.

Second baseman Gene Alley, for two years a victim of arm and hip injuries, continued his hard hitting in the series. He got four hits in six times at bat and a home run, batting in two runs.

Alley had made 11 hits in 15 times at bat and hit four homers in the series.

Manager Dave Bristol of the Reds felt too badly about what happened to discuss it.

While the Reds went to St. Louis, Pittsburgh went home.

The final score was 12-5.

Boston Beats Twins, 7-6

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN Associated Press Sports Writer

No one hit Dave Boswell very hard Monday night, but Manager Billy Martin of the Minnesota Twins wasn't exactly wild about his relief pitchers and you couldn't blame Cincinnati skipper Dave Bristol if he wanted to take a pot-shot at several of his butterfingers.

Both the Twins, leaders in the American League West, and Reds, pacesetters in the National League West, lost 11-inning games—and some of their slim margins, as well.

Boston tied the Twins on Tony Conigliaro's three-run homer in the eighth off Bill Zepp and beat them 7-6 on George Scott's run-scoring double against Ron Perzanowski. The comeback occurred after Boswell, making his first appearance since his ballyhooed Aug. 6 fight with Manager Martin and teammate Bob Allison, checked the Red Sox on five hits through seven innings. The defeat sliced Minnesota's lead over idle Oakland to 1 1/2 games.

Five Cincinnati errors handed Pittsburgh 10 unearned runs, including two in the ninth and seven in the 10th, and a 12-5 triumph in the only NL contest, trimming the Reds' edge over Los Angeles to a mere one-half game.

Back in the AL, Baltimore mauled Seattle 12-3. Kansas City trounced the New York Yankees 6-1 and California topped Cleveland 3-1. Besides Oakland, the Chicago White Sox, Detroit and Washington also had the night off.

Wrecks Mar Atomic Races Saturday

A pair of drivers racked up feature victories for their first of the season in the wreck-slowed races run under threatening skies at Atomic Speedway Saturday night.

Dick Diamond of Portsmouth took charge of the super-modified feature on the fifth lap to figure in an Atomic main event for the first time in more than three years and Paul Covan of Jackson took over on the third lap of the hobby stocks finale for his first feature win at the track.

To put the Cincinnati-based car in the winner's list for his first feature victory at the track since June of 1966 Diamond jumped from fifth starting position over early-leader Paul Barnes and kept his advantage even though Junior Smalley was put on his tail by a spinout four laps from the finish.

Larry McPeak of Parkersburg, W. Va., finished third as several visitors used the race to prep for Friday night's sixth annual Buckeye 100 with $3,500 at stake.

BOB MORGAN of Chillicothe had fast time for the fifth race this season and won the helmet dash for the four fast qualifiers over McPeak, Chuck Fletcher of Columbus and Smalley.

Bud Frazier of Chillicothe and Charles McCann of Piquette were the heat winners and the consi went to Smalley. Frazier withstood a late surge by Sam Erwin and McCann was in front of Jim Luebbert of Cincinnati all of the way.

Covan was the only double winner of the night as he took the wreck-marred finale over Bob Stanhope and George Branscom of Chillicothe. Covan had taken the opening race of the night, with Bill Wampler of Lancaster winning the other heat race and the consi going to Stanhope.

Pro Football Roundup

Undefeated Kansas City Preps For Los Angeles

By SHEILA MORAN Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kansas City Chiefs, the hottest team in pro football's preseason program, began drilling for a grudge meeting with the Los Angeles Rams with two strikes against them.

Tight end Reg Carolan was to have surgery on his right knee today for an injury suffered during last weekend's 23-7 victory over Cincinnati. He probably will be lost to the Chiefs for the entire season.

Kick return specialist Noland Smith suffered a torn rib cartilage and is a doubtful starter Saturday at Los Angeles. Loss of Carolan shoves former running back Curtis McClinton into the spotlight as the likely replacement.

The Chiefs, 3-0, would dearly like to scalp the Rams. The Rams have marred the Chiefs' undefeated record in exhibition play for the past two years, beating them 44-24 and 36-16.

While medical charts are against them, the Chiefs enter the game with the winner's edge. The Rams, 1-1, lost to the Cleveland Browns 10-3, last weekend and it was their first time the Rams have been stopped without scoring a touchdown since 1967. The Californians' starting offensive tackle, Charlie Cowan, may miss the Chiefs' game because of strained ligaments in his left knee, but he has a replacement in veteran Jim Wilson.

Cleveland 2-0, is preparing for a Saturday showdown with the San Diego Chargers, whose offense is trying to snap the hang-up of not being able to score touchdowns. The Chargers, 2-1, nipped the winless Oakland Raiders, 10-7 last weekend, but it was linebacker Dick Redman who scored the touchdown on an interception. In 12 quarters of play, the Chargers' offense has produced just one touchdown.

"Every time we get near the goal line something happens to ruin the drive, like penalties or mistakes," said Charger quarterback John Hadl.

San Diego Coach Sid Gillman said he's going to take his offensive players to the goal line at training camp this week "and show them there's no big fence around it."

Medically, the Chargers expect to be in midseason shape for Saturday's game. Tackle Ron Mix, who pulled a thigh muscle two weeks ago, is ready to play. So are rookie linebacker Bob Babich and guard Bill Lenkaitis, who suffered shoulder bruises during the Oakland game. Offensive back Brad Hubbert, offensive tackle Terry Owens and cornerback Bill Beauchamp, also nursing injuries, are expected to see action too.

The Dallas Cowboys, crowing over rookie running back Calvin Hill, entertain the Green Bay Packers in another grudge meeting Saturday. Hill, a Yale University product who is helping Cowboy fans forget about Don Perkins, gained 106 yards in 16 carries in Sunday's 20-17 victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

"He sort of runs like Ollie Matson and hits like Jim Brown," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry. "Nobody is happier than I am that we drafted

Local Drivers Win At SD

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —

Miss Van Winkle led from wire-to-wire and posted a new life time mark of 2:05 1/5 in winning the featured $1,200 conditioned trot at Scioto Downs Monday night.

The 6-year-old mare, owned by Ronald Gaines of Mount Vernon, Ohio, had to hold off a late-charging Celtic Saber to take the victory by a head.

Circleville drivers took four spots at Scioto Downs Monday including one win in the third race.

Mary K. Creed, driven by Jim Mace and trained by Forrest Short, paid $8.80; $6.20 and $4.80 as she toured the track in 2:07.4.

Jim Arledge took three thirds in last night's action. He drove Red Meadow Byrd in the fourth race and paid $5 for a show ticket. J. One was the third place horse in the sixth race and paid $4.60. Arledge's Tally Time paid $3.40 for the third spot in the seventh race.

The 2-7 daily double combination of Ethel The Dauber and Parsifal paid $97. The 1-2 quincella returned $30.30.

A crowd of 3,693 wagered $164,374.

20-Man Shootoff Highlights 70th Grand American Today

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — A

20-man shootoff in the men's field and induction ceremonies for the first 15 members of the next Trapshooting Hall of Fame highlighted today's program in the 70th annual Grand American Trapshooting Tournament.

The 20 shooters, including two professionals, all broke 200 straight targets Monday. Normally, a shootoff would have been held immediately, but it was put off until today because of a dedication banquet for the Hall of Fame.

Howard Rankin of Des Moines, Iowa, posted one of the 200s and led the Iowa team to a 900 of 1,000 target mark and the state team championship.

Taking top honors on the opening day of the tournament was Loral I. Delaney of Anoka, Minn., who won two titles and shared a third with her husband, Charles.

Mrs. Delaney had 198 of 200 targets, best in the women's field on the Class Day program. That score also gave her the Champion of Champions title, a special race for state champions.

Her husband also had 198, and their 396 total was good for the husband-wife championship. Winning the brother-brother title were Roger and Morris Stinebring of Thawville, Ill., with 395 of 400.

Charles Hinckley, 80, of Aurora, Ill., won the veterans race with 100 straight targets. Hinckley is still an active hunting guide and pilots his own plane.

Maxine Wiseman of Mount Vernon, S. D., won the women's veterans title with 96. The sub-junior championship went to Phil Stultz of Wamego, Kan., with 195 of 200.

Foreman Wins TKO Over Chuck Wepner

NEW YORK (AP) — George Foreman, the Olympic gold medalist who is now seeking gold in professional boxing's glamor division, the heavy-weight class, keeps putting himself out of work.

It's not that Foreman is lazy, or that he dodges fights, it's just that he hasn't been able to work up a good sweat yet in his young pro career.

Foreman stopped veteran Chuck Wepner on a cut in the third round of a scheduled eight-rounder Monday night at Madison Square Garden—and now has two one-round knockouts and two three-round knockouts in four pro fights.

When they got through, the Reds had made five errors, blown a three-run lead going into the ninth and rendered the great hitting power almost helpless in the pinches.

The Pirates took three of the four game series, out-hit and out-slugged the "Big Red Machine" with ease.

Prior to coming to Crosley Field Pittsburgh had been beaten by Cincinnati in the only four other games they had played. They caught the Reds wobbling from losing three of four to Montreal.

And as Cincinnati left town for St. Louis, first stop on a 10-day tour, Los Angeles was behind them in second place by a half game in the West Division.

Other teams in that division were idle Monday night.

Bob Moose started for Pittsburgh and gave up three earned runs before being replaced by Bruce Dal Canton after the seventh inning.

Dal Canton was the winning pitcher and now stands 8-2.

Gerry Arrigo started for Cincinnati and held Pittsburgh to two runs for six and two-thirds innings before giving way to Wayne Granger, Cincinnati's star relief pitcher.

Granger, who had allowed only one run in 20 innings of relief work, gave up five hits was not nearly that bad, for a collapsing infield and outfield had allowed five of those runs.

Cincinnati looked like a winner when Bobby Tolan hit a three-run homer in the third to put the locals ahead by two runs. Pittsburgh scored another run in the fourth and that was all until the ninth when they tied the game at five-all with three runs on three hits and an error. Only one of those runs was earned.

Then came the horrendous 10th when five hits along with two errors put the game beyond Cincinnati's reach.

Cincinnati had a chance to get out of the trouble when Jose Pagan bounced to Granger for an almost certain double play.

"Granger threw a sinker to second on that ball and Ruiz (Chico) dropped it. Then we were on our way," said Larry Shepard, Pittsburgh manager.

Second baseman Gene Alley, for two years a victim of arm and hip injuries, continued his hard hitting in the series. He got four hits in six times at bat and a home run, batting in two runs.

Alley had made 11 hits in 15 times at bat and hit four homers in the series.

Manager Dave Bristol of the Reds felt too badly about what happened to discuss it.

While the Reds went to St. Louis, Pittsburgh went home. The final score was 12-5.

Local Drivers Win At SD

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miss Van Winkle led from wire-to-wire and posted a new life time mark of 2:05.15 in winning the featured $1,200 conditioned trot at Scioto Downs Monday night.

The 6-year-old mare, owned by Ronald Gaines of Mount Vernon, Ohio, had to hold off a late-charging Celtic Saber to take the victory by a head.

Circleville drivers took four spots at Scioto Downs Monday including one win in the third race.

Mary K. Creed, driven by Jim Mace and trained by Forrest Short, paid $8.80; $6.20 and $4.80 as she toured the track in 2:07.4.

Jim Arledge took three thirds in last night's action. He drove Red Meadow Byrd in the fourth race and paid $5 for a show ticket. J. One was the third place horse in the sixth race and paid $4.60. Arledge's Tally Time paid $3.40 for the third spot in the seventh race.

The 2-7 daily double combination of Ethel The Dauber and Parafal paid $97. The 1-2 quinnella returned $30.30.

A crowd of 3,693 wagered $164,374.

Boston Beats Twins, 7-6

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

No one hit Dave Boswell very hard Monday night, but Manager Billy Martin of the Minnesota Twins wasn't exactly wild about his relief pitchers and you couldn't blame Cincinnati skipper Dave Bristol if he wanted to take a pot-shot at several of his butterfingers.

Both the Twins, leaders in the American League West, and Reds, pacesetters in the National League West, lost 11-inning games—and some of their slim margins, as well.

Boston tied the Twins on Tony Conigliaro's three-run homer in the eighth off Bill Zepp and beat them 7-6 on George Scott's run-scoring double against Ron Peranoski. The comeback occurred after Boswell, making his first appearance since his ballyhooed Aug. 6 fight with Manager Martin and teammate Bob Allison, checked the Red Sox on five hits through seven innings. The defeat sliced Minnesota's lead over idle Oakland to 1½ games.

Five Cincinnati errors handed Pittsburgh 10 unearned runs, including two in the ninth and seven in the 10th, and a 12-5 triumph in the only NL contest, trimming the Reds' edge over Los Angeles to a mere one-half game.

Back in the AL, Baltimore mauled Seattle 12-3. Kansas City trounced the New York Yankees 6-1 and California topped Cleveland 3-1. Besides Oakland, the Chicago White Sox, Detroit and Washington also had the night off.

20-Man Shootoff Highlights 70th Grand American Today

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — A 20-man shootoff in the men's field and induction ceremonies for the first 15 members of the next Trapshooting Hall of Fame highlighted today's program in the 70th annual Grand American Trapshooting Tournament.

The 20 shooters, including two professionals, all broke 200 straight targets Monday. Normally, a shootoff would have been held immediately, but it was put off until today because of a dedication banquet for the Hall of Fame.

Howard Rankin of Des Moines, Iowa, posted one of the 200s and led the Iowa team to a 900 of 1,000 target mark and the state team championship.

Taking top honors on the opening day of the tournament was Loral I. Delaney of Anoka, Minn., who won two titles and shared a third with her husband, Charles.

Mrs. Delaney had 198 of 200 targets, best in the women's field on the Class Day program.

That score also gave her the Champion of Champions title, a special race for state champions.

Her husband also had 198, and their 396 total was good for the husband-wife championship. Winning the brother-brother title were Roger and Morris Stinebrink of Thawville, Ill., with 395 of 400.

Charles Hinkley, 80, of Aurora, Ill., won the veterans race with 100 straight targets. Hinkley is still an active hunting guide and pilots his own plane.

Maxine Wiseman of Mount Vernon, S. D., won the women's veterans title with 96. The sub-junior championship went to Phil Stultz of Wamego, Kan., with 195 of 200.

Foreman Wins TKO Over Chuck Wepner

NEW YORK (AP) — George Foreman, the Olympic gold medalist who is now seeking gold in professional boxing's glamour division, the heavyweight class, keeps putting himself out of work.

It's not that Foreman is lazy, or that he dodges fights, it's just that he hasn't been able to work up a good sweat yet in his young pro career.

Foreman stopped veteran Chuck Wepner on a cut in the third round of a scheduled eight-rounder Monday night at Madison Square Garden—and now has two one-round knockouts and two three-round knockouts in four pro fights.

Wrecks Mar Atomic Races Saturday

A pair of drivers racked up feature victories for their first of the season in the wreck-slowed races run under threatening skies at Atomic Speedway Saturday night.

Dick Diamond of Portsmouth took charge of the super-modified feature on the fifth lap to figure in an Atomic main event for the first time in more than three years and Paul Cohan of Jackson took over on the third lap of the hobby stocks finale for his first feature win at the track.

To put the Cincinnati-based car in the winner's list for his first feature victory at the track since June of 1966 Diamond jumped from fifth starting position over early-leader Paul Barnes and kept his advantage even though Junior Smalley was put on his tail by a spinout four laps from the finish.

Larry McPeak of Parkersburg, W. Va., finished third as several visitors used the race to prep for Friday night's sixth annual Buckeye 100 with $3,500 at stake.

BOB MORGAN of Chillicothe had fast time for the fifth race this season and won the helmet dash for the four fast qualifiers over McPeak, Chuck Fletcher of Columbus and Smalley.

Bud Frazier of Chillicothe and Charles McCann of Piketon were the heat winners and the consi went to Smalley. Frazier withstood a late surge by Sam Erwin and McCann was in front of Jim Luebbert of Cincinnati all of the way.

Cohan was the only double winner of the night as he took the wreck-marred finale over Bob Stanhope and George Branscom of Chillicothe. Cohan had taken the opening race of the night, with Bill Wampler of Lancaster winning the other heat race and the consi going to Stanhope.

Mario Andretti Wins $25,000 Memorial

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Mario Andretti had little difficulty Monday in winning the $25,000 Tony Bettenhausen Memorial, a 100-mile national championship of the U.S. Auto Club at the Illinois State Fairgrounds dirt track.

Pro Football Roundup

Undefeated Kansas City Preps For Los Angeles

By SHEILA MORAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kansas City Chiefs, the hottest team in pro football's preseason program, began drilling for a grudge meeting with the Los Angeles Rams with two strikes against them.

Tight end Reg Carolan was to have surgery on his right knee today for an injury suffered during last weekend's 23-7 victory over Cincinnati. He probably will be lost to the Chiefs for the entire season.

Kick return specialist Noland Smith suffered a torn rib cartilage and is a doubtful starter Saturday at Los Angeles. Loss of Carolan shoves former running back Curtis McClinton into the spotlight as the likely replacement.

The Chiefs, 3-0, would dearly like to scalp the Rams. The Rams have marred the Chiefs' undefeated record in exhibition play for the past two years, beating them 44-24 and 36-16.

While medical charts are against them, the Chiefs enter the game with the winner's edge. The Rams, 1-1, lost to the Cleveland Browns 10-3, last weekend and it was the first time the Rams have been stopped without scoring a touchdown since 1967. The Californians' starting offensive tackle, Charlie Cowan, may miss the Chiefs' game because of strained ligaments in his left knee, but he has a replacement in veteran Jim Wilson.

Cleveland 2-0, is preparing for a Saturday showdown with the San Diego Chargers, whose offense is trying to snap the hang-up of not being able to score touchdowns. The Chargers, 2-1, nipped the winless Oakland Raiders, 10-7 last weekend, but it was linebacker Dick Redman who scored the touchdown on an interception. In 12 quarters of play, the Chargers' offense has produced just one touchdown.

"Every time we get near the goal line something happens to ruin the drive, like penalties or mistakes," said Charger quarterback John Hadl.

San Diego Coach Sid Gillman said he's going to take his offensive players to the goal line at training camp this week "and show them there's no big fence around it."

Medically, the Chargers expect to be in midseason shape for Saturday's game. Tackle Ron Mix, who pulled a thigh muscle two weeks ago, is ready to play. So are rookie linebacker Bob Babich and guard Bill Lenkaitis, who suffered shoulder bruises during the Oakland game. Offensive back Brad Hubbert, offensive tackle Terry Owens and cornerback Bill Beauchamp, also nursing injuries, are expected to see action too.

The Dallas Cowboys, crowing over rookie running back Calvin Hill, entertain the Green Bay Packers in another grudge meeting Saturday. Hill, a Yale University product who is helping Cowboy fans forget about Don Perkins, gained 106 yards in 16 carries in Sunday's 20-17 victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

"He sort of runs like Ollie Matson and hits like Jim Brown," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry. "Nobody is happier than I am that we drafted

ORDINANCE NO. 65-69
AN ORDINANCE ADOPTING THE SPECIFIC SAFETY REQUIREMENTS OF THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION OF OHIO RELATING TO ALL WORKSHOPS AND FACTORIES AND PUBLISHING THE SAME IN THE CIRCLEVILLE HERALD.

WHEREAS, the State of Ohio through the Industrial Commission has developed such rules and regulations which may be adopted by reference.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED BY the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio:

Section 1: That Rule 1C-5-01 through 1C-5-13.06 of the Specific Safety Requirements of the Industrial Commission of Ohio, relative to all Workshops and Factories is hereby adopted and incorporated as if the same were fully rewritten herein and shall constitute the City of Circleville's Safety Requirements for the City of Circleville. Copies can be found in the County Law Library (with copies available to the public at cost).

Section 2: That the modifications to the Specific Safety Requirements of the Industrial Commission of Ohio relating to all Workshops and Factories are as follows:

(a) Whenever the words "State of Ohio" are used they shall be changed to "City of Circleville."

(b) Whenever the words "Industrial Commission of Ohio" are used, they shall be changed to "Director of Public Safety or Building Official or their designees."

(c) There shall be added a Workshop and Factories Safety Requirements the following:

"That any person firm or corporation who shall be found guilty of violation of the requirements shall be prohibited for one (1) year from performing any work for the City of Circleville, Ohio, and shall be fined not more than fifty dollars ($50.00). Each day of violation shall constitute a separate offense." "The Director of Public Safety or Building Official or their designee shall enforce the provisions and requirements contained herein."

Section 3: That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

ORDINANCE NO. 66-69
AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING THE RATES FOR DEPOSITS FOR STREET OPENINGS.

WHEREAS, it is deemed necessary to update the provisions of Ordinance No. 3300, passed the 19th day of April, 1949, which established rates for deposits for street opening, and

WHEREAS, to ensure the proper restoration of the streets so opened in relation to present costs it is necessary to enact new provision providing and rates of deposits for street openings.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED BY the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio:

Section 1: No person shall dig up any portion of the street or alley ways in the City of Circleville, unless permission is obtained from the Service Director and a deposit is made with the office of the Service Director of not less than the following:

Class "A" street consisting of concrete, brick and T-33 $100.00
Class "B" street consisting of T-33 50.00
Class "C" street consisting of T-31 or T-33 or treated 25.00
All of the above deposits shall cover an opening of not more than 10 feet in length and two feet in width. For increments larger, the following amounts shall be added:

Class "A" street consisting of concrete, brick and T-33 2.00 per ft.
Class "B" Street consisting of T-33 1.25 per ft.
Class "C" street consisting of T-31 or T-33 or treated 50 per ft.

Section 2: These deposits are all predicated upon the assumption that the City would be required to remove debris and make a satisfactory repair to the excavation in order to properly restore the street or other public thoroughfare to at least as good a condition as it was prior to the opening, however, if the property owner or consumer doing utility installation, should choose to restore the surface over the excavation, then the major portion would be encumbered by the City. All deposits will be held for a period of one (1) year as to be assured that the final repair is durable and acceptable inspection to this effect shall be by the Director of Public Service.

Section 3: A Public Utility shall not be required to comply with Sections one (1) and two (2) of this ordinance if and only if such Public Utility in writing (1) gives notice to the Director of Public Service that such Public Utility will be digging up or excavating a portion of street or alley ways at least three (3) days before beginning (except in the case of an emergency) (2) states that it will provide or see that provisions are made for safety barriers and warning lights and assumes the liability if they are not adequately provided, and (3) agrees that it will pay for the proper restoration of any such surface so dug up or excavated by it, if it fails to meet the approval of the Service Director upon his inspection upon completion of the restoration.

Section 4: That any person who violates any sections of this ordinance shall be fined not more than $50.00, and a separate offense shall be deemed committed upon each day during or on which the offense occurs or continues. "All ordinances or provisions in conflict with this Ordinance are hereby repealed."

Section 5: That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

Local Seniors To Participate In TIA Talks

Five local high school seniors will be among the more than 120 participants at the fourth annual teenage Institute on Alcohol, held this year at Wittenburg University in Springfield Sunday through Wednesday of next week.

Cindi Kay Radcliff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Radcliff, 422 E. Main St., Janet E. Clifton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clifton, 905 Circle Drive, Shirley A. Flaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flaker, 927 S. Washington St., and Beth Ann Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Smith, 501 N. Pickaway St., are all seniors at Circleville High School. Sandy Scothorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Scothorn, Route 2, Ashville, is a senior at Teays Valley High School.

"Interest this year was very high in all parts of the state," Department of Liquor Control Director Donald D. Cook said. "More than 300 applications to the Institute were received and selection of the most qualified was very difficult."

"The final decision rested on two major points — sincere interest in the teenage drinking program in Ohio and demonstrated leadership ability," the Director said. "All the girls are extremely qualified in both respects."

The Institute, jointly sponsored by the Ohio Departments of Health and Liquor Control, the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Ohio School Counselors Association, and the Governor's Committee on Teenage Drinking will examine in depth the physical, psychological, social and legal aspects of underage drinking.

The institute format will include lectures, discussion groups and extensive question and answer periods — all aimed at inspiring these teenage citizens to carry their newly-found knowledge to the youth of their own communities, the Director said.

Governor James A. Rhodes, the man who originated action in combatting illegal and dangerous underage drinking in the state, has pointed out that the Institutes are only one phase of Ohio's teenage drinking program. "But they are certainly one of the most worthwhile in terms of educating our youth to the dangers they court when taking a drink," the Governor said.

"The three previous Institutes have been very successful in imparting useful knowledge to those in attendance and even more successful in motivating local action by the teenage participants," he added. "I heartily support and endorse this venture and hope for its continuing success."

Columbus Banker Abducted, Robbed Of $15,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A natty gunman, who claimed a vial he was carrying contained nitroglycerine, abducted an Ohio National Bank vice president Monday and robbed him of $15,000 in $20 bills.

After pulling off the well-planned heist, the slick bandit vanished, apparently leaving police and FBI agents without a lead.

Police said E. Donovan Trubee, manager of the bank's North Side Linden branch, was abducted by the gunman after he was lured from his office by a telephone call to go to a downtown meeting.

Trubee said the man approached him outside the branch office and said, "Hi, Don. How are you?"

Trubee said he did not recognize the man but they engaged in small talk and the man asked for a ride downtown.

When they reached the downtown area, Trubee said the man stuck a gun in his side, placed a vial supposedly containing nitroglycerine in his breast pocket, and said:

"Don, this is a holdup. I want

$20,000 and you're going to get it for me."

Trubee said the man told him the vial contained nitroglycerine and he would blow them both up if Trubee did not cooperate.

The man also threatened to harm Trubee's wife and children if the banker didn't follow his instructions.

Trubee said the man had him call his branch office from a public phone and tell his assistant to prepare $20,000 in $20 bills for transfer to another bank.

The aide reported that the bank had only $15,000 in that denomination, and Trubee told him to "put them in a sack and seal it."

Trubee said he and his assistant then drove to the bank, where the assistant turned over the money.

Trubee and the gunman then drove from the bank and at an intersection the bandit took Trubee's wallet, warned him not to call police for five minutes, and ordered him from the car.

The car was found abandoned six hours later. FBI agents went over the auto for fingerprints, but said it appeared that the steering wheel had been wiped clean.

5 Ohioans Die In Viet Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five more Ohio servicemen have been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Monday.

They were three Army men, Sgt. James F. Kester of Windham, Pfc. Larry L. Shaw of Rogers and Pfc. William M. Treadway of Findlay and two Marines, Pfc. William R. Dickey of Mentor and Lance Cpl. Russell P. Forristal of Willoughby.

Two other Ohioans, Army Sgt. Stanley J. Shuminski of Windsor and Army Spec. 4 Edward L. Kanter of Cincinnati, were changed from missing to dead.

Ohio Collision Fatal To Five

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — Four members of a Canton family and a Barborton truck driver were killed in a car-truck collision on U.S. 21 in northern Guernsey County Monday.

The victims were identified as Hallie Snyder, 57; his wife, Evelyn, 40; their two sons, Roger, 13, and Terry, 12; and truck driver Robert Wilkinson, 61.

Byran Snyder, 6, was listed in critical condition in Guernsey Memorial Hospital.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the crash occurred when Wilkinson's truck crossed left of center and struck the Snyder car head-on.

Students Flock To Enter ND's Nonviolence Course

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A new Notre Dame University course in violence and nonviolence has been expanded more than tenfold before it even gets under way.
The course, titled "Program for the Nonviolent Resolution of Human Conflict," will be offered at the start of the fall semester.
Originally it was planned to have one section, limited to 20 students. But more than 250 of Notre Dame's 8,000 students have signed up, so three sections have been added and the limit abolished.

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, Notre Dame president, said the credit course for undergraduates will explore the literature of violence and nonviolence, investigate the psychology of human aggression and study social effects of violence as portrayed in mass media.

The idea evolved from a proposal by 38 student leaders last winter after a campus protest.

A warning letter to students from Father Hesburgh produced the financial foundation for the new course.

On Feb. 17 the president wrote that while the university firmly believed student voices should be heard it could not tolerate disruptive protests.
